FAMILY OF SEAMAN SUES GOVERNMENT

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 11.—(P)—The estate of George W. Barnes, of Portsmouth, Va., civilian seaman, who lost his life April 4, 1929, when the destroyer Childs sank the schooner A. Ernest Mills off the North Carolina coast, filed suit for $10,000 damages in the United States district court here today against the United States government.

Barnes and three members of the salt-laden schooner were drowned. The Childs cut the sailing vessel in two off Currituck Light, North Carolina, as the schooner was on her way from Turkis Island, West Indies, to Norfolk.

Floyd W. Turner, Portsmouth, administrator of the estate of Barnes, is bringing the suit on behalf of Barnes' sister, Constantina Barnes, of Portsmouth. Negligence on the part of the Childs is alleged in the suit. The action was entered here because the Childs is in Rhode Island waters on special duty, and special service of papers on its officers is necessary.

'Atlanta's Own' Wins Rifle Match at Foster

CAMP FOSTER, JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 11.—(Special).—The 122d infantry, Georgia national guard, "Atlanta's Own," won its first rifle match with an outside organization Sunday, by defeating a picked rifle team from the 12th infantry, Florida national guard, by 45 points. The defeat of the Florida rifle team was the second they have suffered at the hands of Georgia marksmen this summer, as 10 days ago they were downed 32 points by a picked team from the 12th infantry, Georgia national guard, under the command of Captain A. J. Swann, of Macon.

J. A. Norman was the high-point man of the match with 140 out of a possible 150 hits. Sergeant G. Sears was the high man for Florida. The Atlanta team, scoring 678 points, had the following score: Lieutenant J. A. Norman, 140; Captain E. M. Sasseville, 137; Captain R. C. Endicott, 135; Sergeant A. M. Bean, 134; and Sergeant J. K. Bell, 132. The Florida team, scoring 633 points, had the following score: Sergeant G. Sears, 135; Sergeant H. Wright, 122; Sergeant A. H. Fikert, 121; Lieutenant C. B. Davidson, 120; and Sergeant N. S. Thayer, 119.

JURY WILL RESUME GRAFT PROBE TODAY

Several indictments in Municipal Investigation Forecast.

With several indictments forecast, the grand jury today will resume its investigation into municipal affairs, after having handled whatever routine business may have come up over the week-end. Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens said Monday night. The last several weeks the grand jury has centered its activities on the Grady hospital, in so far as the graft probe is concerned and the projected indictments are expected to concern conditions alleged to exist at the hospital. During the probe more than 20 doctors and nurses attached to the hospital have been before the grand jury. Mr. Stephens would make no comment on what he expected to accomplish during the day and refused to give any inkling of the identity of those to be named in the indictments.

McLendon Committee To Recall E. E. Ellis

E. E. Ellis, one of the chief witnesses at the first hearing held by the committee, is expected to be recalled by the committee, it was announced Monday. There was a strong probability that the session will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon, but Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman, could not say definitely Monday night pending a conference with courthouse officials. It is understood that there was a discrepancy between Ellis' testimony before the grand jury and before the council committee. Before the committee he swore he had never said McLendon told him he (McLendon) had to pay certain members of council to obtain a strip of paving in the tenth ward, and Ellis is reported to have told the grand jury that McLendon did say he had to pay certain council members.

Remittitur Not Here, Aiken Case Delayed

Failure of the remittitur to arrive from the state supreme court Monday caused postponement of the sentencing of Sam P. Aiken, which was scheduled Monday before Judge Virlyn B. Moore in Fulton superior court. Aiken is to be sentenced to death in the electric chair for the murder of his wife, whom he shot and killed with Boyce Hunter on Cooper street early last year. The remittitur probably will arrive this morning, Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens said Monday, adding that if so Aiken would be brought from the tower immediately for sentencing. Under the law Judge Moore must fix the time of execution within 20 days of the formal passing of sentence.

Little Auto Victims Reported Improved

Two accident victims, children of prominent Atlantans, were reported to be showing improvement at the Henrietta Egerton Memorial hospital Monday and physicians considered them out of danger. They were Margaret Dodge, 9-year-old daughter of Dr. D. Witherpoon Dodge, pastor of the Central Congregational church, and Louise Caldwell, daughter of W. F. Caldwell, news editor of the southern division of the Associated Press. The girls were injured Saturday morning, the Dodge child suffering a fractured skull and the Caldwell girl received a lacerated leg and many body bruises. Attaches at the hospital stated that the condition of both was "very good."

Board of Education Will Gather Today

The August meeting of the Atlanta board of education will be held in the council chamber of city hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon, according to an announcement Monday by Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs. Nothing but routine matters are slated to come before the board, he stated.

AirMail Poundage Here Shows Big Gain in July

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Air mail carried via Atlanta showed an increase of 902 pounds in July, as compared with the previous month, according to figures given out today by the postoffice department. The total carried on the four routes which pass through the city was 74,759 pounds.

Increases were recorded in every case, with the exception of the Atlanta-New Orleans traffic, which decreased slightly from 9,883 pounds in June to 9,725 in July. On the New York-Atlanta route the increase was from 35,695 pounds in June to 36,229 in July. Atlanta-Miami from 14,436 pounds to 14,844 and Atlanta-Chicago, 10,033 to 10,961 pounds. Total air mail carried throughout the country increased from 680,690 pounds in June to 693,827 in July. The daily average for July was 27,226, as compared with 26,677 in June.

Marconi's 'Electra' Damaged by Blaze

CIVITA VECCHIA, Italy, Aug. 11.—(P)—Fire broke out today on Guglielmo Marconi's yacht, Electra, but was put out within half an hour. First reports said the stern was practically destroyed but later it was indicated that the damage was not so serious. The blaze was understood to have started around a gasoline motor. Although the wireless inventor's valuable radio apparatus was in the fire-awake portion, it narrowly escaped damage.

Merger Is Approved By Lutheran Synods

TOLEDO, Aug. 11.—(P)—Merger of the Lutheran Buffalo, Iowa and Ohio synods into the American Lutheran church was ratified today at the opening session of the convention of the American Lutheran church. Dr. C. C. Hein, Columbus, chairman, said that the federation will not be a super-church which will endeavor to direct the affairs of the constituent synods, or in any way interfere with their work.

Former Emperor Karl Of Austria, Honored

VIENNA, Aug. 11.—(P)—A memorial service for the late Emperor Karl of Austria, at which prominent Hungarian monarchists swore to place the Archduke Otto on the throne with the least possible delay, was reported today in dispatches to the Montagszeitung from Thany Abbey, Hungary. In this abbey the late emperor spent several memorable days as a Hungarian prisoner after the fall of his dynasty. The service commemorated both the 100th anniversary of the birth of the Emperor Francis Joseph and the imprisonment and banishment of his successor.

Count Adalar Zichy, monarchist leader, in the apartment where Karl and the ex-Empress Zita passed their last days in Hungary, solemnly declared that Hungary would "rip out its sin committed against Karl" by placing his son, Archduke Otto, with the least possible delay on the throne.

POLICE FAIL TO ARREST MEN WHO SHOT JONES

Poole Issues Orders to All
Officers To Pick Up Trio
on Sight.

Police Monday continued their search for three men named by Paul Jones, alleged hoodlumper, as the trio who early Sunday morning shot and seriously wounded him as he sat in his parked motor car on a downtown street corner. No trace of the three, Jack Byars, Harley Foster and Charlie Lancaster, was found.

Detectives Norton and Ellis, assigned by Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole to investigate the shooting, talked with Jones a second time Monday at St. Joseph's hospital, where he is suffering from several wounds he received in the gun battle and he again named the three men positively as his assailants.

Jones made a detailed statement to the two detectives in which he said the three fired on him because they believed that he had "hijacked" a cargo of liquor alleged to have belonged to Foster. Jones denies stealing the liquor.

Chief Poole Monday issued orders to all policemen to "pick up" Foster, Lancaster and Byars.

Move Made To Push Old City Hall Razing

Acting Mayor G. Everett Millican Monday moved to expedite clearing of the old city hall site at Forsyth and Marietta streets in order that it may be turned over to the Carling Hotel Co., Inc., at the earliest possible moment. When that is accomplished the borough of Atlanta will begin collection of the $3,333 monthly rental on the lease rights to the property.

Mr. Millican addressed a letter to City Attorney James L. Mayson asking if there is any legal way in which work of clearing the site could be pushed forward more rapidly than at present. He pointed out that it will take 60 or 90 days more to clear the tract at the rate the work is progressing.

If contractors are willing, Mr. Millican will suggest that the construction department take charge of the clearing operations. Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, estimated that it would take about 15 days to remove all the debris and clear the lot with convict labor.

Dr. Haygood Is Named Alto Superintendent

Dr. M. F. Haygood, former city health officer of Knoxville, Tenn., has succeeded Dr. E. W. Glidden, Jr., in charge of the Alto sanatorium, it was announced Monday at the state board of health offices. Dr. Glidden has gone to Worcester county, Massachusetts, to superintend the building of a large tubercular sanatorium of which he will be in charge. Dr. Haygood formerly was with the Georgia board of health, and recently has been connected with Tennessee as director of the state board of health's tubercular work and as city health officer of Knoxville.

Wickersham at Office With Health Improved

Charles A. Wickersham, president and general manager of the Georgia, the A. & W. P. and the Western of Alabama railroads, returned to his desk Monday morning after an absence of three weeks, during which time he has been convalescing from an appendix operation.

Mr. Wickersham remained at his desk Monday long enough to go through his morning mail, after which he returned to his home in College Park. He expects to lengthen his time at his office this morning and to resume his usual activities within a few days.

Mr. Wickersham is probably the hardest-worked railroad official in the south. He watches personally every detail of the business of the three railroads, of which he is the head. He is highly esteemed by every employee of the three companies. So close is his attention to the welfare of his employees that he keeps posted even as to sickness in their families, and is ever ready to render service in case of necessity.

General solicitude was felt among the employees when their president had to go under the knife and there was rejoicing among them at the news of his return to his desk.

Mabel Willebrandt Sued for Damages

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement; David Lawrence, writer; the Current News Features, Inc., and Hilmar Baukhage, all of Washington, today were named defendants in a $200,000 damage suit filed by Gus O. Nations, of St. Louis, in the District of Columbia supreme court.

The suit is based on statements contained in a publication August 14, 1929, made in one of a series of articles by Mrs. Willebrandt on the "Inside" of Prohibition. In an advance notice of the article, it was said she would tell "how she had to fight the Anti-Saloon League to remove a crooked but popular agent."

Nations said that as a result of the publication of the Willbrandt articles he has been brought into disrepute, and injured in the performance of his duties as director of the Anti-Saloon League and as an attorney for the league in Missouri.

Audit of Preacher's Books To Start Soon

Audit of the accounts of G. Lloyd Preacher, architect, on about $2,700,000 worth of schools erected from the 1926 school bond funds, will be begun by Ham Edison & Co., in the near future, it was announced Monday by Acting Mayor G. Everett Millican after a conference with Mr. Preacher.

At the same time Mr. Preacher stated he is preparing a statement of his attitude in the payments made to employees of his company and that he will release it as soon as it is completed.

Truck Driver Hurt In Crash With Auto

Dick Richardson, Marietta truck driver, was slightly injured Monday in an accident in which his truck, a street car and an alleged hit-and-run driver figured. A motorist going at a high rate of speed attempted to pass the oil truck Richardson was driving on Marietta road near Ashby street in front of an approaching street car. To avoid hitting the street car ahead on the driver of the auto swerved it into the truck, turning it over against a telephone pole. Richardson was injured about both hands.

Two Railroads Seek Suspension of Trains

The Georgia public service commission today will hear applications for suspension of trains Nos. 25 and 29 of the Southern railroad and trains No. 182 and 183 of the Atlantic Coast Line.

The Southern trains run between Atlanta and Hazlehurst, and the Coast Line trains between Jesup and Waycross.

The railroads seek the suspensions on grounds that the trains are producing no revenue and that they are losing money by their operations.

Opposition to the proposed suspension is expected from Macon and Waycross and other cities and towns

Box Car Destroyed; Incendiarism Hinted

An N. C. & St. L. box car was virtually destroyed and a loading platform of the Star Provision Company at 506-516 Marietta street, was slightly damaged by fire of undetermined origin shortly after 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, according to a report at central station.

Because the blaze started in an empty, locked car, railway detectives Monday night were investigating possible incendiarism. Sam Reisman, a member of the provision company firm, said, "I am fully convinced that it was the work of a firebug, and I am going to do all in my power to aid the railroad in bringing the guilty party to justice."

of Alabama and various other crops. Winter wheat was described as "too far advanced to be hurt by the drought," while the "usual supply of food crops" was indicated.

18 States. The American Red Cross report to the president covered 18 states and said conditions were very bad in some states, not as serious in others, and hardly affecting some at all.

The outlook in Virginia and Kentucky was reported the most alarming. Unemployment was growing in some drought-stricken areas. Chairman Payne reported, with typhoid and pellagra on the increase in several southern states.

Crop damage ranged from 50 per cent to total loss in some areas. The weather report, dated July 27, said earlier prediction of showers this week in some portions of the dry regions. If rain were not forthcoming soon, the Red Cross report said, distress would be more acute than in any previous year. Representative Ludlow, of Indiana, informed President Hoover that 11 railroads had agreed to cut freight rates on grain and livestock. Mr. Thom told newspapermen the railroads in general were ready to assist the farmers in every way possible.

Representatives Kendall, Newhall, and Blackburn, of Kentucky, told the president conditions in their states were "deplorable." They were assured by the executive that every agency would be utilized to help sufferers.

Asks Building. Representative Aswell, of Louisiana, another White House caller, recommended to the president that the public building program be speeded up as a means of relieving unemployment resulting from the drought.

The situation in his state was "very bad," Aswell said, adding it had not rained there in three months. The corn and hay crops were destroyed, the sugar cane crop was six weeks behind, and cotton was reduced from one-half to one-third of normal.

Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, returned to the capital today to confer with government and Red Cross officials. "Other sources of relief would be chiefly affected through inability to plant crops for next year and urged that government credit be extended without delay."

Red Cross reports showed "serious conditions" in Illinois counties south of Springfield. Exhaustion of wells and "other sources of drinking water" was presented as "serious problem and health hazard" there.

Serious conditions will probably develop in southern Illinois during the winter," the report added. The situation also was described as "serious" in eastern Kansas, but with no unfavorable health conditions as yet.

A "great increase in typhoid" was reported in western Kentucky and unemployment among farmers was described as "acute" in the south-east section of the state.

Conditions in Missouri were reported "generally serious" in the southern half with all crops affected and indications of "extensive relief needs" in the fall and winter.

Fifty per cent of the crops was estimated to have been "destroyed" in Montana, where a water shortage was presenting a serious cattle problem.

"Forced liquidation of cattle is the greatest problem in Montana," the Red Cross said.

A "hopeful outlook" was reported for Nebraska as a result of recent heavy rains. Chapter chairman in South Dakota estimated a crop one-half of normal and maintained hope for "material improvement with rains during the next ten days."

Pastures were "burned up" and gardens were a "total loss," West Virginia reports said. They added the percentage of loss in various crops was: Hay 75 per cent, corn and oats 60 per cent and wheat 25 per cent.

The city of Spencer, Roane county, was said to have only two weeks' water supply.

The crop reporting board, touching upon the general situation, said commercial vegetables, including cabbage, onions, tomatoes, melons, etc., would probably show a total somewhat above the five-year average due to general acreage increase, that will offset partly the low production of many home gardens and truck grown for local market.

"The condition of fruit crops," the report continued, "including apples, peaches, pears, grapes, citrus fruits, apricots, etc., averages 18 per cent above conditions at this time last year, but nearly 10 per cent below the average during the previous 10 years."

The board said the seriousness of the situation "is not in the national total of current prospects, but in the critical condition prevailing in certain states, and in the fact that the drought has not as yet been broken except in small areas."

"The damage from drought has been most serious in the drainage areas of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, in the central and lower Mississippi valley and in parts of the northern great plains area. In West Virginia, Kentucky, Arkansas, Montana, southern Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, much of Missouri and most of Virginia, yields per acre of all crops combined are expected to be below 70 per cent of average yields during the last 10 years," it said.

"The only areas where crop yields are expected to be above average are outside the central drought areas. These include Wisconsin, New Jersey, New York, New England, the south Atlantic coast, including eastern North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, and the western area, including New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, western Colorado, California and Oregon."

250,000 BALLOTS EXPECTED IN ARKANSAS.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 11.—(AP)—An attempt to unseat the veteran congressional leader, Senator Joe T. Robinson, and a four-cornered gubernatorial contest featured the campaign which closed tonight for democratic nominations in tomorrow's biennial state primary.

The voters select nominees for senator, governor, seven congressional places and nearly all state, district and county offices.

For the gubernatorial nominee, heretofore always elected, the democratic voters must choose between Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City oil millionaire, and colorful William Henry (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, of Tahlequah, who had a 65,000 vote plurality in the first primary July 23.

Charles J. Wrightman, wealthy Tulsa oilman, and Thomas P. Gore, blind former senator, will contest for the democratic senatorial nomination. They finished the first primary on virtually even terms.

The senatorial nominee will face a stiff general election contest against Senator W. B. Pine, republican, and an independent field including J. C. (Jack) Walton, ousted as governor in 1923 when he ordered martial law to quell a Ku Klux Klan disturbance.

TANGLED LOVE SEEN IN MEMPHIS SLAYING

Authorities Discard Bootlegger's Vengeance Theory in Girl's Death.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Lovers' anger instead of bootleggers' wrath was blamed officially tonight for the death of a young woman whose decomposed, partly clothed body was found on a lonely road near here Saturday.

Sheriff Will Knight announced deputies were searching for a man they believe was involved in a quarrel on the road last month. The sheriff abandoned the theory of his chief deputy, Charles Garibaldi, that bootleggers killed her because they believed she was an informer.

Denial of her tentative identification as Miss Clara Patterson, 31, of Little Rock, Ark., was made by Paul Waggoner, fingerprint expert. Waggoner made five prints by wrapping the decaying skin about his own fingers. He said the prints did not compare with those he made of Miss Patterson while she was a hotel cafe cashier here. The hotel recently had all its employees fingerprinted.

Finis E. Wilson, deputy prohibition administrator, declared the woman could not have been killed as an informer. "We know nothing of this woman and never use women for such work," Wilson said. He and another agent revealed that her rooming house frequently was the scene of liquor arrests.

Miss Patterson's whereabouts and the identity of the dead woman were unknown. Waggoner and authorities hoped to identify her by means of her teeth.

An Evening Appeal dispatch quoted Miss Patterson's mother at Little Rock as saying a letter from her was written in another city on July 26. The mother, also said measurements of the dead woman's feet did not coincide with her daughter's. Miss Patterson "got in bad" here and left the hotel, her mother said.

Rivers Lays Debts Aside To Attack Sales Tax Plans

Candidate Charges "Special Interests" Are Attempting To Lower Exemption; Senatorial Candidates Speak.

Plans and promises of Georgia's gubernatorial candidates for financial relief from the state were supplanted momentarily Monday by a vigorous attack on a plan for lowering gross sales tax exemption, delivered by E. D. Rivers, one of the five men seeking the state's highest office.

Charging that certain "special interests" were attempting to lower the sales tax exemption from $30,000 to $5,000, Rivers at Alma, Ga., said he was "calling upon the people of Georgia, especially the merchants, to unite and fight the insidious purposes of the special interests, now maneuvering to endanger the financial security of every merchant in the state."

Ferry Cites Record.
All five candidates took up their speech making early Monday and will continue throughout the week. James A. Perry took to the radio as a means of reaching the voter. Speaking from Rome's new broadcasting station, Mr. Perry defended his record as a member of the public service commission, declaring that if his record as a member of that commission "is made an issue in this campaign, I can, before an impartial, understanding public, lick the whole quartet to a frazzle."

Maintaining his position that the payment of debts due by the state will continue to be the main issue of the gubernatorial campaign, George H. Carwell, spoke in the interest of his candidacy at Ashburn.

He urged that his plan to use the automobile license tag tax for one year to pay school teachers, veterans and state institutions be accepted as the best solution. Carwell discussed plans advanced by other candidates in the race and said that some of them had already abandoned their original proposals.

Richard B. Russell, Jr., in a speech at Clarksville stressed reduction and consolidation of departments, tax revision, distribution of school books at cost and completion of the state highway system.

John N. Holder, at Eastman, spoke of the state sanitarium at Milledgeville, declaring that "many of our mentally unsound have been crowded into jails due to the sanitarium being unable to receive them." As governor, Holder said, he would "not leave a stone unturned" to remedy this situation.

Harris and Slaton Speak.
In the race for United States senator, both candidates delivered speeches on Monday.

I am addressing you the radio from Atlanta Monday night former Governor Slaton made a concise summary of the reasons that actuated his commutation of the sentence of Leo Frank, declaring "The path of duty is not always easy. If I had been willing to listen to those who advised me to play politics about this matter of life or death, I might have avoided prejudice and enmities and misrepresentation, but I would have been unworthy to stand before my fellow citizens and look them in the eye, with a conscience at rest."

Senator Harris, in an address at Blue Ridge, defended his vote against Judge Parker and defended his position on "white supremacy."

He was "particularly proud" of his vote against Judge Parker, he said, as his appointment "was not made on account of fitness but as a master political stroke by the republican administration to aid the republican rule in North Carolina."

Speaking at Forsyth, Slaton asked his audience "if there is any institution in Georgia more thoroughly typical than a barbecue, and answered with the statement that if there was "I don't know what it is."

The reference was an answer to the chief accomplishment of Slaton's political career in Georgia "was a series of barbecues for the Georgia legislature."

The former governor said that if giving a barbecue unites a Georgian to hold public office, "then all of us might as well retire from politics and give Senator Harris a monopoly of the field."

Senator Harris, he said, "has been eating so long in the senate restaurant that he must have lost his taste for Georgia barbecue—if he ever had any."

Record Defended By Senator Harris

BLUE RIDGE, Ga., Aug. 11.—Senator William J. Harris in an address here today discussed his record of service during the twelve years he has been in the United States senate. Answering ex-Governor Slaton on the question of white supremacy and his vote against Judge John J. Parker, the senator said:

"When I was appointed census director by President Wilson, the first order passed by me was the one segregating negro employees in the census bureau from white men and women. This was the first official order of this kind, separating the races in any department in Washington."

When President Harding appointed the negro leader in Georgia, Henry Lincoln Johnson, recorder of deeds in Washington where many white women held positions in that office, it was Senator Thomas E. Watson and I who defeated the confirmation of this negro boss. When Ben Davis, the negro national republican committeeman from Georgia had Judge Tilton appointed United States judge Tilton was defeated for confirmation. I held that no foreigner or non-resident should be appointed to the responsible place of United States judge of a people in whose district he never resided.

"Senator George and I are authors of the law adopted by congress to investigate and prevent the sale of post-office or any other federal appointments in Georgia at that time."

I voted against the confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina for supreme court justice, because the appointment was not made on account of ability or fitness, but was a master political stroke by the republican administration in order to aid republican rule in North Carolina.

"I have been consistently for white supremacy all my life and the intelligent public of this great state realize how ridiculous and preposterous the claims of Mr. Slaton that I at any time or place thought or expressed an opinion other than for unconditional white supremacy everywhere and at all times."

Slaton Discusses Frank Commutation

In a radio address delivered in Atlanta Monday night, former Governor John M. Slaton, candidate for the United States senate against Senator William J. Harris, explained his commutation of the sentence of Leo M. Frank. He declared he made the statement in the senate in an effort to prevent the rate of the tax so the special interests could evade their just taxation, "were made in an address delivered here today by E. D. Rivers, candidate for governor."

Slaton's press associates of the plan to lower the sales tax exemption to $5,000 is, he declared, "simply part of the interests' clever scheme to make the merchants of the state pay the taxes now evaded by the interests. They even plan to raise this sales tax, once they get it firmly established upon the backs of the merchants, because they know the merchants will have to pass the tax on to the people."

"If the big interests can popularize this plan coming supposedly from a public official, but in reality their own, they can defeat the income tax amendment when it comes before the people in November. Under this amendment, the interests would be forced to pay the taxes of the state's taxes. Professor Lutz, of New Jersey, has already rendered his verdict before making a survey in announcing that the income tax should be changed."

sentence to life imprisonment, following the recommendation of the judge who tried the case.

"In this action I merely discharged the duty imposed upon me by the constitution and law. It is a fact, in honest opinion, and if I had not done so I could not have retained my self-respect or have been entitled to the respect of others."

"After the judge had recommended to me commutation, on the ground that he doubted Frank's guilt, I could not arrogate to myself, that which belongs to God alone, to look into the heart of a self-confessed and repeated liar and tell when he was lying and when speaking the truth. There is no case known to me where any governor took upon himself the responsibility of having a man executed when the trial judge urged commutation."

"The path of duty is not always easy. If I had been willing to listen to those who advised me to play politics about this matter of life or death, I might have avoided prejudice and enmities and misrepresentation, but I would have been unworthy to stand before you and look you in the eye, with a conscience at rest as today."

"As between Frank, the white man, whose guilt I greatly doubted, and Conley, the negro, with whose guilt I was greatly impressed, I sided with Frank and sent him to the penitentiary for life."

"That is the Frank case," repeated charges against Senator Harris made by him in his other radio talk, and urged him to deny them "categorically and not for outside influences to divert the personnel of the present campaign for governor, but finally, being unable to get a workable leader from the machine that he existed in the state for the last eight years, he, with two others, selected Mr. Carswell. This is the only evidence of Hardman's support that I have found anywhere in the state for Mr. Carswell. I think they selected the proper man. They must have known that I am not the type of man that would be influenced by outside influences to divert that they would be in charge of my administration."

Lowered Sales Tax Suspicious to Rivers

ALMA, Ga., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Charges that an "iniquitous scheme" has been engineered by the Hardman-Carswell special interest ring to foist upon the small town and crossroad merchants a lowered sales tax exemption from $30,000 to $5,000 and then increase the rate of the tax so the special interests could evade their just taxation, were made in an address delivered here today by E. D. Rivers, candidate for governor.

Saturn's press associates of the plan to lower the sales tax exemption to $5,000 is, he declared, "simply part of the interests' clever scheme to make the merchants of the state pay the taxes now evaded by the interests. They even plan to raise this sales tax, once they get it firmly established upon the backs of the merchants, because they know the merchants will have to pass the tax on to the people."

every place where the service is had, whether in the city or in the country. Until this individual cost is made uniform, discriminations inevitably follow. We have fixed this service charge at one dollar. It is a fact, in excess of this amount per customer. Therefore, if a dollar is not paid by every customer, regardless of the amount of current consumed, it means that for the minimum consumer as existed under the old rates, some one else had to pay for an actual loss sustained in serving such minimum consumers. In other words, on investigation of the commission it was found that it cost the company not less than one dollar per month to furnish meters, service lines on the customers' premises, reading meters, bookkeeping, billing, etc., and it follows that if any amount of current should be included in the dollar, such current would be furnished free to this customer and at the expense of other customers. We have reduced light and power rates in this state, during the past three years in the sum of two million five hundred thousand dollars; railroad freight rates in the sum of forty-eight million dollars; have made the same rate to apply to villages however small; the same that applies in Atlanta, Rome and elsewhere; we have reduced gas rates in the sum of one million two hundred thousand dollars; we have reduced the line rental charge necessary in connection with rural lighting service, until it is now the lowest rate of any service in the United States.

"It is generally known over the state that one of your distinguished citizens is to deliver this county to George Carswell. This particular citizen was hard to please in arranging the personnel of the present campaign for governor, but finally, being unable to get a workable leader from the machine that he existed in the state for the last eight years, he, with two others, selected Mr. Carswell. This is the only evidence of Hardman's support that I have found anywhere in the state for Mr. Carswell. I think they selected the proper man. They must have known that I am not the type of man that would be influenced by outside influences to divert that they would be in charge of my administration."

"If I am elected governor, I promise you that it will never be charged that this man, that influence will have to be seen before you can approach Jim Perry. This unfortunate condition, for which Governor Hardman is in no way responsible, has gone a long way towards discrediting his administration. Just as long as the voters of this state have to pay for the cost of four two-by-fours to commercialize any administration in the conduct of our government, you are going to have something that the general public will treat as a joke. I have defended Governor Hardman all over the state as no other candidate has dared do. He has simply been hog-tied with cheap designing politicians."

"If my record as a member of the public service commission is to be made an issue in this campaign, I can, before an impartial, understanding public, lick the whole quartet to a frazzle."

Aid for Asylum Pledged by Holder

EASTMAN, Ga., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—John N. Holder, candidate for governor, in an address here today featured a discussion of the conditions at the state sanitarium at Milledgeville and plans for remedying it.

"No man who loves his fellowman," he said, "can be but touched by the deplorable situation existing now at the state sanitarium at Milledgeville. Many of our mentally unsound have been crowded into jails due to the sanitarium being unable to receive and take care of them. This is a situation that demands relief. The inmates of our eleemosynary institutions have the first call upon the people of Georgia. They are the dependents of the state and have no other source of relief."

"The situation at the sanitarium challenges the generosity of the people of Georgia."

"If I am elected governor, and I believe that shall be on September 10, I shall leave no stone unturned to remedy this situation and to bring relief to these unfortunate dependents of the state."

Critics of Record Answered by Perry

ROME, Ga., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—James A. Perry, speaking here tonight over Rome's new broadcasting station, made a vigorous defense of his record as chairman of the public service commission. Among other things, he said:

"Our commission has, to a large degree, only in the discharge of our sworn duties, reduced your light and power rates. By virtue of the position I occupied and now occupy, it became possible for me to initiate the move that has brought natural gas to Georgia and with it great savings to gas consumers of Rome and elsewhere in the state. Soon this service will be all over the state. You have had misinformation about the service charge in your gas and electric service. This service charge is separate, individual and distinct in

He called special attention to the friendly and cordial relations existing between himself and the members of the general assembly, many of whom had served with him, as an assurance that the departments of government would work in harmony during his administration to promote the welfare of the state and secure the adoption of the measures which he is advocating.

Plans Abandoned, Claims Carswell

TIFTON, Ga., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The one issue which will continue to be foremost during the remainder of the race for governor, will be the best method of paying the debts now due the teachers, veterans and institutions, George H. Carswell, one of the candidates, declared in a speech here tonight before Tift county voters.

Mr. Carswell explained his plan to pay the indebtedness and said that some of the plans suggested by the other candidates had already been abandoned.

"There will hardly be any more reference to the sale of the state's property, and not much more about discounting the income of the W. & A. railroad after 1933, nor the Henry Grady hotel income inasmuch as it would take 150 years to get five millions of dollars by discounting the $20,000 a year received from this property."

Father, 3 Children Die as Home Burns

KINGSLEY, Kas., Aug. 11.—(AP)—A father and his three children were found dead today in the ruins of their home, which was destroyed by fire. They are Albert Watkins, Erlene Elizabeth, Margaret Alberta, 8, and Charles Alberta, 2.

Firemen found the bodies in an upstairs room. A five-gallon can which had contained gasoline was near by. Blood near the bodies led authorities to believe the victims may have been shot before the fire started.

Mrs. Vera Watkins, the wife and mother, was at work in a restaurant at the time of the fire. The father was not employed.

A filling station attendant reported he had sold Watkins some gasoline just before the fire.

MORE CARE IS URGED IN ADDRESSING MAIL

Campaign Among Business Firms Begun by Postmaster Large.

A campaign designed to secure the co-operation of Atlanta firms in addressing mail correctly has been begun by Postmaster E. K. Large. Tests of the local mail sent out by a large number of Atlanta firms revealed that in only a few instances were business people addressing all mail correctly.

Mr. Large said Monday that he is taking up the matter with Atlanta business houses in an effort to have the firms add the proper street suffix to all local mail. If this can be done, the postoffice will be saved a vast amount of extra work and deliveries of mail can be speeded up to the advantage of the firms, he said.

The new system of house numbering, in which the city has been divided into four quadrants, N. E., N. W., S. E. and S. W., has been in effect four years, and the amount of incorrectly addressed mail is too large, the postmaster said. In the cases of several large firms, every single piece of mail from 200 to 500 pieces of mail failed to have the suffix. Use of the suffix enables speedy separation of mail into the proper divisions of the city, making for fast delivery.

Mr. Large said. He pointed out that Atlanta is a large city and that the postoffice clerks work mainly by addresses rather than by names in sorting mail, and that lack of the suffix causes delay in sending mail to the proper division of the city's postal scheme.

Capone Headquarters Are Ordered Raided

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The north side gang headquarters supposedly set up by Al Capone to take over Bugs Moran's liquor and vice business was ordered raided today by Judge John H. Lyle.

Judge Lyle, having read newspaper stories in which Capone was said to have installed Ted Newberry as his north side chief, ordered Newberry's cabaret raided and offered to issue the necessary warrants.

The newspapers published stories which said Bugs Moran had been forced out by the slaying of his chief operator, Jack Zuta, whose killing in a Wisconsin summer resort 11 days ago came as a sequel to the assassination of Jake Lingle, Tribune crime reporter. Capone was purported to have usurped Moran's business by taking advantage of his rival's absence from the city since the Lingle and Zuta killings.

Meanwhile, a hearing into the Zuta killing was under way in Oconomowoc, Wis., where owners of the resort testified concerning the circumstances in which five gunmen entered their dance hall and shot down Zuta as he was dropping nickels in an automatic phonograph.

Leaf's Second Week Better, Third Week Opens Strong

Average Price Recorded Officially Shows That It Was 1.84 Cents Per Lb. Ahead of Opening Days.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Georgia's bright-leaf tobacco market's average price last week was 1.84 cents a pound better than the opening week of 1929, according to the figures announced today by the state department of agriculture.

The average price last week was 1.84 cents a pound compared with the first week of 1929, when it was 1.54 cents a pound. The opening week of 1929 was the lowest since 1914.

The department of agriculture announced that last week's figures came from all 59 of the warehouses in the belt. The first week of 1929 was 59 of 59 reported.

The total sales for the two weeks, the department reported, were 48,475,420 pounds at an average of 11.70 cents per pound for the two weeks. The sales had a gross value to the farmer of $5,671,643.84. Last year the sales for the same period were $4,845,717 pounds at an average of 20.77, bringing to the farmers $9,313,010.40.

In commenting on the sales for the week, the department's bulletin said: "The slight increase in price paid for the first week of the current season, is off set by a better grade of tobacco, therefore growers are not conceding that there has been any general increase in prices thus far this season."

"It is expected that the peak of the season will be reached in the third week of the current season, when accurate estimate of both production and price for the season may be deduced."

Huge Increase Shown.
A huge increase was shown in the amount of tobacco sold last week in comparison with the first week. Last week farmers disposed of 29,388,978 pounds of tobacco, compared with 10,286,436 in the first week. The increase was 18,102,542 pounds, an increase of 10,286,436. Last year's second week sales totaled 27,905,103 pounds.

For the increased production and improved grade of tobacco the farmers received $3,649,880.54 last week as compared with $2,022,006.42 the first week. The increase was $1,627,874.12.

Tifton again led the other markets in the belt in total sales, with 3,255,770 pounds compared with the first week of 1929, when it was 1,482,134. Nashville, which led in highest average price for the first week with 12.33 cents a pound, dropped to second last week with 11.48 cents. Nashville's average of 14.08 cents last week was 12.71. Tifton with an average for the first week of 12.03 cents was second for the week and Moultrie with 12.21 was third.

Five markets last week had an average of better than 13 cents a pound. These were: Tifton, 13.43; Valdosta, 13.71; Adel, 13.43; Valdosta, 13.43; and Tifton, 13.03.

Bainbridge, last week had the lowest average sales price with 8.71 cents a pound. The lowest for the first week was Valdosta with an 8.22 average.

Georgia Woman, Adopted Daughter Of Francis Fowler, Inherits Estate

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Irma Andrews McBride, of 14 Robinson street, New York, who was adopted by Francis Fowler, proprietor of Mexican mines, is the chief beneficiary of a private trust of $337,217 and $34,163 net estate, a transfer tax appraisal filed in Kings county revealed today.

Fowler, who died in a Brooklyn fire last week, was a native of Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. McBride receives an annuity of $600 for life, together with the power to dispose of the entire estate by will. In the event she should die, Mrs. Dace inherits one-half the remainder.

Affidavits accompanying the appraisal tell the story of Mr. Fowler's paternal devotion to the adopted daughter. At the time of his death he was 18 and had been supported by her since 1913, a year after her father had died. Her adopted father was a successful business man and was a member of the New York stock exchange and on her marriage continued to provide for her, according to her affidavit. Because he wanted her to be brought up by a lady, he gave her the name of Mrs. McBride.

The deposition of Mrs. McBride's mother states that she allowed Fowler to adopt her daughter due to the poor circumstances she was reduced to by her husband's death.

Although Andrews was commissioner of records for the city and county, his estate amounted to less than $500. Her two children and a niece were burned to death in the fire in 1923. Mrs. McBride being the only one to escape.

Should Mrs. McBride leave no will, the other half of the estate will pass to her mother, Mrs. Lillian I. Andrews, whose whereabouts are now unknown. She last resided at 8417 Nineteenth avenue, Brooklyn.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Seventy-five boys at the Georgia State Training school here who have been suffering since Saturday night with what was believed to be ptomaine poisoning, are now out of danger, it was reported Monday night. NEGRO RELEASED OF ASSAULT CHARGE

MACON, Ga., Aug. 11.—(AP)—After he had been convicted and sentenced to serve 20 years in the penitentiary for assaulting a Montgomery county white woman, Shote Wright, Mount Vernon (Ga.) negro, was released Monday from the Bibb county jail and charges dismissed.

The release was ordered by Judge Echols Graham, of Macon, who some time ago granted the negro a new trial because he thought the evidence was insufficient to convict him of the crime.

After the granting of a new trial, Solicitor-General M. H. Boyer, of Hawkinsville, asked that the case be transferred to the "dead docket" and the prisoner released. The order of release was signed Saturday and reached here Monday. Mr. Boyer said he was unable to produce evidence which would strengthen the case.

Wright was brought here for safe keeping February 6 immediately following alleged commission of the offense. Except for the time he spent in Mount Vernon during the trial, he has been here since that time.

BASIC PERMIT OFFICE MOVED FROM SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The basic permit department of the division of industrial alcohol, prohibition enforcement bureau, is being transferred from Savannah to New Orleans to be in the office of O. D. J. Tolson, director of the bureau, announced here Monday by A. S. Anderson, acting supervisor of permits in charge of the Savannah office.

Two women employees of the department will go to the new headquarters, and Mr. Anderson will also go there for conference, though he will continue to hold his position in Savannah. There has been a transfer of an increase in the number of operators working out of the Savannah office. H. E. Turner, chief inspector, has already been transferred here from Shreveport, La., and there will be six inspectors working under his direction, two of whom are to report for duty on August 15. This transfer of the basic permit department to New Orleans is expected to be the last change in the prohibition organization since the creation of the new district to which Robert E. Tuttle was appointed as administrator. The transfer is to centralize the work, it was stated.

DOUBLE SHIFTS WORK ON QUITMAN SCHOOL

QUITMAN, Ga., Aug. 11.—Work on the new grammar school building in Quitman is being done at night, a squad of workmen toiling on the building through the night hours until 4 o'clock in the morning when a day squad takes over. The contractors, Culpepper & Son, are doing this partly to facilitate work on the building and chiefly to avoid the heat which has slowed operations during the hot days.

$500 Reward Offered In Loganville Slaying

MONROE, Ga., Aug. 11.—The board of commissioners of Walton county Monday offered a reward of $500 for evidence leading to the conviction of the slayers of the unidentified man, whose charred body was found in the ruins of a burned farm house near Loganville recently.

At the same time, Solicitor H. H. West, of the western circuit, said that he would ask Governor L. G. Hardman to match the amount.

The Monroe county board is composed of E. B. Briscoe, C. A. Webb and W. P. Adecock.

NEGRO SUSPECT HELD IN MURFREESBORO

MACON, Ga., Aug. 11.—(AP)—A negro being held in Murfreesboro, Tenn., for Bibb county authorities, is believed to be one of two negroes wanted here for murder in connection with recent homicides.

On the description given to local officers, deputies believe the man is Robert Davis, who killed W. A. Harden, well known on the country place of Leon S. Dure, Sr., some months ago. Some of the description, however, fits that of Frank Dubart, wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of Herman Warr, a federal prohibition officer, here August 1.

Murfreesboro authorities have been asked to send representatives to the meeting Tuesday.

State officers of the J. O. U. A. M., all of which are expected to arrive here today, are: Starnes, of Atlanta, past counselor; Edward A. Wright, Savannah, counselor; Rev. M. D. Collins, Fairburn, vice counselor; A. Dwight Davis, Augusta, secretary; Judge O. H. Puckett, Atlanta, treasurer; W. B. Williams, Newnan, conductor; S. E. Doolittle, Augusta, assistant conductor; J. T. Sweet, Atlanta, inside sentinel; Ben E. Smith, Dallas, outside sentinel.

DR. GRENOBLE GOES ON TRIAL TODAY

SPRINGFIELD, Ga., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Dr. A. W. Grenoble, 72, will go on trial here Tuesday charged with attacks on two women, prominent here.

The women are in the state hospital for the insane. Dr. Grenoble was charged with the attacks on the women, prominent here.

Defense counsel sought a postponement of the trial, but Superior Judge Strange denied the request and ordered the physician to appear for trial tomorrow.

The case previously had been postponed while the defense sought a change of venue, which also was denied in two courts.

Dr. Grenoble was taken to Savannah for safekeeping after he was arrested for the alleged attacks. He was returned here later, and the defense used the transfer as basis for its appeals for a change of venue.

AMERICUS, Ga., Aug. 11.—James L. Glawson, veteran member of the Americus police force and lieutenant of police here for years, was stricken while talking with friends here late Monday afternoon and is now at the Americus and Sumter county hospital. He is 61 years of age, and one of the best known officers in this section of Georgia.

The stroke completely paralyzed Glawson. He is in the Hotel Dempsey in Macon, where he is being cared for in company with Police Chief John Worthing, who went into the office of Alderman John B. Dorsey a few minutes before he was stricken to confer with the alderman regarding some police problems. Lieutenant Glawson was in conversation with Alderman Dorsey when stricken, having just uttered the words, "He has always been a good friend of mine," but he never concluded the sentence.

$25,000 SUIT BASED ON WOUNDED FEELINGS

Lee Bennett Charges Equitable Loan Co. Caused Him Great Mental Anguish.

MACON, Ga., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Incarcerated in jail here because he could not produce under bail trover action an automobile which he says he did not possess, Lee Bennett, of Macon, Monday filed action in the city court of Macon for $25,000 against the Equitable Loan Company for "malicious and illegal use of legal process."

Bennett claims to have remained in jail five days, and the experience, the petition says, "affected his peace of mind, wounded his feeling, caused humiliation, mortification and great mental anguish, and brought him into public scandal, infamy, disrepute and disgrace."

The petition asserts that the bail trover action was filed February 11, calling for an automobile and some household furniture. Though the furniture was in the name of Mrs. Sue Bennett, the petitioner, claims it was delivered. The automobile could not be delivered because it had not been in his possession since 1928. Bennett said he went to jail because he could not produce the automobile, and could not there five days until he could have a hearing.

Quitman Boy Scouts Spend Only $50.93 On 500-Mile Trip

QUITMAN, Ga., Aug. 11.—Quitman Boy Scouts have centered attention upon their activities by demonstrating the low cost of real living. They have just had a week of camping, fishing and traveling with $9 in the party and a total money cost of $50.93. They had over $4 of groceries on hand also when they reached the home base.

In the trip as far south as Wea-hatcha, Fla., the party covered 500 miles in all. The expenditures included gas, oil, ferry tolls, as well as food. Scoutmaster J. B. Hunter said his boys had two good meals a day and consumed whatever they encountered along the route. The trip was considered so remarkable that the scoutmaster and one of the Scouts, Jack McMichael, were invited to attend the Rotary Club luncheon and tell how it was done.

The district Scout executive, J. B. Hackney, of Waycross, was here this week to visit the Quitman troops and made a big hit with the boys.

If you want children to EAT better

This means happier meals, better digestion, better health for all.

HEINZ's "57" fame has created new, extra luscious Rice Flakes in daintiest form—oven-toasted, crunchy, crisp!

Hidden in them are soft, fluffy particles of vegetable-cellulose the same kind that the best vegetables and fruits themselves contain. These particles which you cannot see or taste increase in bulk four to six times when moisture is absorbed after eating, forming one of the mildest, gentlest yet most effective types of natural bulk and roughage known to scientists. Not a bran-food. Children can't resist the flavor of these Rice Flakes so they don't resist the benefits that the cellulose provides. Think what this means to young folks who don't like vegetables. Think what it saves you to supplement the vegetable diet with this charming cereal.

Happier meals are better digested, so authorities say. Patented by HEINZ, vegetable-cellulose comes ONLY IN HEINZ CEREALS.

Your money back from any grocer if HEINZ Rice Flakes are not satisfactory both as to flavor and effects.

TELEVISION IN FUTURE, THEATER OWNERS HEAR

Pettijohn Declares That Improvement Will Not Be Available for 10 Years.

Television is coming, but it will not be available for the general public for many years—ten, at least—in the opinion of Charles Pettijohn, general counsel of the Motion Picture Producers' Association, who is attending the annual meeting of the Southeastern Theater Owners' Association at the Ansley hotel Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Pettijohn, one of the outstanding figures in the amusement business, said Monday that, in his opinion, the next big improvement in screen entertainment would be three-dimensional pictures.

"Television will involve too drastic a change in amusement methods and equipment to come for many years," he said. "The industry is just over the change from silent to talking pictures. These advances can't be made too rapidly. Even if they were scientifically complete—which television is far from—the financial end of such a change takes several years to absorb."

Speaking before the convention on Monday afternoon, Mr. Pettijohn stated that the talking pictures had saved the screen industry at a time when it was rapidly losing ground to the radio.

The convention opened Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with sessions held at the Ansley hotel. It will close with an executive session beginning at 9 o'clock this morning. The annual banquet, which was devoted entirely to entertainment, was presided over by Alpha Fowler as toastmaster and was featured by a number of exceptionally clever cabaret acts. It was held Monday night on the Ansley roof garden.

Speakers at the Monday morning session included Maurice "Red" Kann, editor of the Motion Picture News. Mr. Kann declared that the leaders in the industry were learning more and more that their success depends chiefly upon the independent producer and he painted an attractive picture of the future for the up-to-date independent.

Montgomery Hill, of the Public Saenger Theaters, of North Carolina, spoke on "Theater Operation," while Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, head of the Atlanta board of independent producers, discussed the way in which a board of censors can help the exhibitors.

Mack Jackson, of Alexander City, Ala., spoke at the afternoon session on "Film Buying." Mr. Jackson urged an end to additional charges for "scores" and said the independent exhibitor could not prosper under a system whereby he had to contract for an entire output of 40 or 50 features from one distributor, without the right of selection and rejection.

M. A. Lightman, of Memphis, president of the Motion Picture Theater Owners' Association, spoke at the Monday afternoon session and described the progress of the conferences which resulted in adoption of the new "5-5-5" uniform contract.

Mr. Pettijohn, at the afternoon session, said that the much-discussed national "zoning system," under which the time protection given first run exhibitors would be uniform, limited all over the nation, would soon be in operation.

Resolutions will be adopted and new directors elected at the executive session to be held this morning.

MYSTERY PLANE BOMBS MINES IN KENTUCKY

PROVIDENCE, Ky., Aug. 11.—(AP)—A series of disorders in the Webster county coal fields culminated today in the bombing of mine properties from an airplane. The mines were reopened July 1 after a three-month shutdown because of independent strikes over wages and working conditions.

Nine bombs were dropped from an orange-colored plane, believed to have carried two men, which flew over the town this morning as miners were going to work. Four bombs failed to explode. The five that did explode injured no one and damaged no property, but tore large holes in the ground. The bomber was described as a monoplane.

Taken by surprise by the sudden attack, Providence and Webster county were thrown into a state of intense excitement. Only one of the 25 or 30 guards employed by the mines in the county had presence of mind to fire at the plane. He shot twice but without effect. The bomber departed in the direction of Illinois, whence it came.

All available deputy sheriffs patrolled the mine properties today, but there was little to be done, unless the plane returned. All mines resumed operation as usual. Operators said they will continue to be operated as long as the situation permits.

Asked Troops. Webster county officials requested Governor Flem D. Sampson to send national guardsmen here on three occasions after homes had been dynamited and miners shot from ambush. The governor replied he felt local authorities could handle the situation.

C. L. Walker, county attorney of Webster county, said Governor Sampson was not asked today to send troops, his previous refusals have discouraged officials of hopes of any help from that quarter.

There was no comment from the governor's office at Frankfort when he was informed of the bombing.

A mass meeting was called here tonight to raise a fund for a reward for the arrest of the occupants of the plane. Plans to resist another air attack included issuance of extra ammunition to the regular mine guards and augmenting the guards.

Citizens of Providence said they would permit no one at the meeting who was known to have fomented trouble at the mines. About 75 percent of the miners returned to work when the mines reopened July 1, and the remaining 25 percent have been attempting to persuade the workers to lay down their tools again. Nineteen striking miners are under indictment here for hindering and confederating to intimidate working miners. Seventeen have been apprehended and are out on bond.

The bombing plane appeared from the direction of Harrisburg, Ill., at about 6 a. m. It dropped the first missile at an abandoned mine near Clay, a few miles north of here. It exploded with a detonation heard for miles, and sent clouds of dust and gravel into the air. The plane was flying at an altitude of 2,000 feet.

The plane then dived toward the city and dropped two more bombs near the outskirts. They had the same effect as the first one. After circling the town, the plane dived at the entrance of the Buckman mine and dropped another bomb, which failed to explode. A guard fired two shots at the plane, which was then at an altitude of 600 feet, but with no visible effect.

The plane started climbing at the edge of the city, and five more bombs were dropped, only two of which exploded. They fell near the mines of the Meador, Young and Holt Coal Company and the Diamond Coal Mining Company. The plane then flew off in the direction of Harrisburg.

Examination of the bombs revealed that they were made of dynamite wrapped with tape, with fuses attached.

Plane Crash Stops Tokyo Flight Project

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Bob Wark, Seattle, and Eddie Brown, Kansas City, today abandoned their proposed four-stop flight from Tacoma, Wash., to Tokyo, after their plane had been seriously damaged in landing at Ladner airport, near here.

The propeller of their plane, Pacific Era, was smashed and the under carriage badly damaged in landing at Ladner after a few minutes' flight from Vancouver. The plane ran into a ditch.

Wark, nursing a slightly injured knee, said the flight would not be continued.

The fliers were forced down here yesterday on a flight from Tacoma, Fearing Vancouver airport at Lulu Island lacked sufficient distance for a take-off, they went to Ladner where there is a longer runway. They planned to fly about 1,000 miles from there to White Horse, Yukon, today.

Mail by Airplanes Increases in July

There are now 24 routes in operation with two new transcontinental lines advertised to operate over southern routes.

The New York-Chicago route carried 132,722 pounds; the Chicago-San Francisco route 168,112. These were by far the largest poundages carried by any line.

The Chicago-Dallas route carried 38,682 pounds; New York-Atlanta, 39,220; Atlanta-New Orleans, 9,725; Atlanta-Miami, 14,844; New Orleans-Houston, 4,465; and Chicago-Atlanta, 10,961.

Former Kaiser Wood Tosser, Not Chopper

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Contrary to report, former Kaiser Wilhelm does not wield the axe over his Doorn woodpile, but his aim with the splintered sticks is unerring, said T. St. John Gaffney, of Summit, N. J., one of the consular service, who returned on the liner Stuttgart Sunday from a visit to his friend of 25 years' standing.

"The reports that the Kaiser chops wood are exaggerations," he said, "as he is able to wield an axe only with his right hand. However, what the Kaiser does do is take the pieces of wood in his right hand and toss them with unerring accuracy into the barn loft."

Mr. Gaffney spent three days with the "castle of Doorn," he said, and found him to be in excellent health and interested in the coming election of a new reichstag. When the former emperor was asked if he never would return to Germany, he replied, according to his friend:

"Never, unless Germany wills that I be recalled."

British Dirigible R-100 Returns After Flight

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The British dirigible R-100, leviathan of the skies, anchored to her mooring mast here at 6:40 o'clock (E. S. T.) tonight after a day and night's flight over part of eastern Canada and a bit of the United States.

Recently repaired after suffering a damaged fin on the England-Canada flight week before last, the big dirigible's trip answered the dual purpose of showing Canadians the latest aviation developments, and testing the work done at the airparks here. Droning steadily along the air-paths in weather that varied from brilliant sunshine to rain squalls and strong winds, she returned to the mooring mast in seemingly perfect condition.

The dirigible left her mooring mast last night, and cruised over Ottawa, Toronto, Lake Ontario and Niagara Falls, N. Y. At Niagara Falls the dirigible crossed the international border, flying over United States territory for the first time.

Hobbs told police he was tired of evading the law and anxious to finish his term at the prison.

Wealthy New Yorker Robbed of Gowns, Furs

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Daily News says it has learned that safe crackers raided the Park avenue apartment of the wealthy banker, Howard Joseph Sachs, of Goldman, Sachs & Company, more than a week ago and escaped with $5,000 of Mrs. Sachs' gowns and furs.

The robbery, the News says, was not made public by police, who pursued the same course with several similar burglaries in the same exclusive neighborhood since July 1.

The episode was entered formally on the ship's log and was reported to the owners of the line.

Veteran sailors said that in 40 years they had not known a yacht to come so far into the harbor.

Great Gambling Raid Proves To Be Nothing

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(UN)—When detectives, on July 8, raided George Herriek's ornate Park avenue apartment, they announced cryptically that they had uncovered one of the biggest gambling playouts since the days of Canfield.

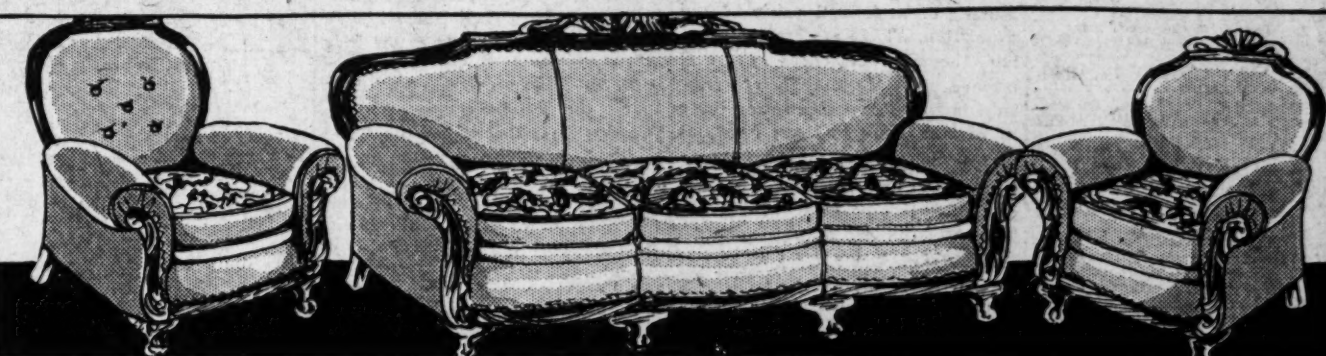

When the case against Herriek and his negro valet, who were arrested at the time, came up in court this morning, the detectives had modified their story considerably. They produced as evidence, several strips of green cloth, a leather dice cup and two pairs of dice. The raiders admitted that they did not have a warrant when they entered Herriek's apartment.

Justices of special sessions court, who heard the evidence, dismissed the charges against Herriek and his valet, immediately.

PRAYER.—My Shepherd is beside me, And nothing can I lack.

JUDGED BY A DANIEL.

When the serious effects of the Hoover-Grundy tariff act upon our international economic relations are emphasized by democratic critics, the inference is that such criticism has its basis in partisan prejudice.

Well and good, but what shall be said of the views of so great a business leader and stalwart republican as Otto H. Kahn, of New York city?

In a recently published letter that eminent business financier uttered in almost similar words the comments made by The Constitution in frequent editorials.

Speaking of the business depression, Mr. Kahn says:

"I believe that the interminable discussion of the tariff bill in the senate, and its ultimate enactment, have tended, at least psychologically, to intensify depression."

So we said while the windjamming was going on and so said other many newspapers of both parties.

Likewise Mr. Kahn emphasizes that nothing should have been done in tariff legislation to cause other people "to harbor a just grievance toward America and for avoiding or opposing her export trade or resorting to retaliatory measures."

He has "heard no convincing arguments to show that a general revision of our tariff was urgently needed" and is not inclined to believe it was. The farmers were promised "increased rates of protection upon the products of their industry," but such rates "could promptly have been enacted for their benefit, without dragging in a general revision of the tariff."

Such opinions coming from such an authoritative republican source can scarcely taste sweet to the palate of President Hoover, who felt the same way when he called the special session of congress to redeem the pledge he had made to the farmers.

But, after his party managers in the congress junked his message and proceeded to riot around the tariff compass, making a protective act so prohibitive as to excite and spreading reprisals by many nations, President Hoover surrendered to Grundy, Smoot and Hawley and signed a bill that viciously affronted all his expressed convictions of the nation's needs.

Now the foul economic vultures incubated in the senate and loosed upon the world are coming home stripped and hungry to roost upon the capitol and the White House.

No complaint can be made against those people who are seeking to protect themselves from the damage to their commerce with us done by our new tariff act. And no acceptable excuse can be given to the American people for the decimation of their domestic and foreign trade, the loss of production, the unemployment of labor and the inevitable future high cost of living.

The responsibility for whatever evils we now suffer and will suffer hereafter from the new tariff will rest upon the president.

Al Capone, generalissimo of liquor racketeers, seems to have recaptured Chicago. The clean-up of the Windy City turns out to have been all wind.

Democrats are riding high and handsome now. Their trouble will be to maintain the pace across the ices of November.

A GROWING STATE EVIL.

One of the prolific causes of economic distress in the government of the state is almost wholly ignored. That particular cause is the large number of non-self-supporting counties.

Counties are created by the state in the first place to facilitate local government in conduct most conducive to the convenience and welfare of a defined sub-area and population. They are erected upon the theory that they can best manage and support their purely local institutions. When they cease to be competent to those purposes they become parasites and burdens upon the people at large. They are no longer fit to exist as government units.

There are at the least 80 counties of the 161 in the state that are in that condition, taking more from the state treasury every year than they pay into it. No other business but politics would long suffer such conditions to exist. They ought not to exist in a state burdened as Georgia is with fiscal deficits of revenue to pay current expenses.

The remedy for the evil is provided in the constitution of the state, but unfortunately it is only a permissive remedy. It can be applied only by the victims of the condition, and they will not apply it as long as the general assembly continues to provide for their upkeep from the tax money paid by the other self-supporting counties.

Logical and business-like consolidations of two or more counties into a single one could be effected all over the state with great economies to their people and to the state at large. The present impotency of half the counties in the state is not a condition for a self-respecting people to be proud of.

HUNTING REAL DRY GROUND.

The Kansas City Journal-Post is one of the popular western newspapers that has consistently upheld the dry cause. For ten years it has stood stolidly for the enforcement of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act.

Now, with no other inducement than the facts before it and an intention to be honest with its readers, it throws up its hands and cries "Kamerad!"

It announces its change of policy in an editorial which says:

"The Journal-Post heretofore announced a policy favoring relief from the sinister and intolerable conditions now prevalent in the United States by a change in the so-called prohibition laws.

"This newspaper is, and always has been, squarely for the strict enforcement of existing laws. But in the ten years that have rolled by under prohibition it has been shown that these laws cannot be, any certainly have not been, effectively enforced. As a matter of fact, they are violated more frequently and more easily as time goes on. This is an announced, therefore, not in the interest of groups or individuals crying for their 'fundamental constitutional rights,' but because these laws have failed in their high purpose and are not the way out of the dilemma."

Those views are taking hold upon many of the publicists and presses of the nation that have heretofore hoped that the "noble experiment" might work out to a practically successful demonstration. But it has worked steadily the other way. Efforts to enforce it have absorbed many millions of dollars, sacrificed a hecatomb of lives, whether good or bad, and covered the nation with lawless moonshiners, bootleggers, rum-runners, speakeasies and scowflaws—almost as many, perhaps, as there are lice in the plague of Egypt.

So, as the Churchman, a religious organ, says of the prohibition problem:

"The reasonable-minded are shifting to a more sane sort of modified plan for dealing with the vexatious question which, it is apparent, is to become the commanding issue in American politics. That it may produce serious political consequences cannot be denied."

Thus the revolt against an intolerable state of liquor lawlessness grows, accompanied by the conviction that very soon the American people must deal with that problem again, and next time with rational minds and with methods suggested by experience as sage and workable.

England is tending toward a protective tariff. Page the shade of old Joe Chamberlain and tell it the good news.

This country now has two paramount needs—a wet party and a dry party—with fair ability of the voters to tell which is which.

The heat wave has been broken up into two or three of the same degree.

Many of our officials are in Europe where they can drink without being arrested for it.

Today Alabama democrats will select their white horse to give a K. O. to Battling Tom Hefflin.

This would be a cheaper and happier country to live in if it had more veto presidents and governors.

The way to publicity now is to file a libel suit or a bill for divorce.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PASSEN

Tchitcherine.

The first soviet foreign minister, M. Tchitcherine, who had been living abroad for several years, has finally resigned. In diplomatic circles in Europe there were expressions of regret when the news came out, for M. Tchitcherine's tact and "finesse" had been unanimously appreciated. Society was not a little surprised a few years ago during the conference of Genoa, when instead of finding the ferocious bolshevik who had been expected, they found in M. Tchitcherine one of the most charming of diplomats, "a perfect gentleman, even an aristocrat." The day when the king of Italy received the conference delegates on board the cruiser "Cavour," the socialist press of Italy (which still existed at the time) positively scandalized at the impeccable appearance of the soviet minister, who permitted himself to be photographed between His Majesty Victor Emmanuel and the archbishop of the city and later was caught by the photographer in the act of graciously signing albums and postcards which Genoa society ladies presented to him. At Genoa M. Tchitcherine's personality undoubtedly contributed a great deal to break Russia's isolation and to prepare that country's entrance into the politics of Europe on a basis of equality. M. Tchitcherine was not only a man of the world, of charming and witty conversation and an almost encyclopedic culture, he proved himself also a great diplomat, with whom the particular interests of Russia were allied with the vision of the general interests of the world. He prepared the treaty of Rapallo with Germany and later negotiated the de jure recognition of the new Russian state with France, England, Norway, Italy and several other countries. Somehow or other this suave and accomplished diplomat with his fine, glowing nose and poker player's eyes seems more to belong in another age. One could easily associate him mentally with another, an older regime. He was, however, also an able Russian diplomatic service under the czar.

Patience as he proverbially was, he could be firm too, as he demonstrated when he backed his ambassador in M. Rakowski, who also at the time of the murder of the Russian delegate, Vorovsky, in Switzerland. At present he retires "into the shadows" toward the end of his career, to leave in the first place, according to his own words.

A Peasant Prays.

Not long ago we had occasion to quote here the Biblical utterance of Ecclesiastes to the effect that those "whose business is to hold the plow and whose talk is of 'bulks and their labor,' in other words those who are peasants cannot be expected to 'possess wisdom.' Without wishing to make a complete statement, it is nevertheless said, that these same peasants often possess a lot of common sense, which is, perhaps, a form of wisdom. This is the case with the peasant who came upon an old peasant woman the villagers call "le pere Rambateau" (Father Rambateau) on account of his venerable age, which is 82 or 83. The old man was sitting in the shade of a knotty willow, having his noon meal. He promptly invited us to sit with him. He was a simple, unassuming man, but he was interesting to know, consisted of a piece of dry bread, a bottle of red wine, a lump of Gruyere cheese and a bunch of red berries. We fell to talking of food. "Pere," Rambateau showed me his teeth, which were practically all intact. Of the cheese he said that he always took it because it digested everything in this old man took exception. "Look you," he said, "I eat all these berries, they all go into the same stomach, yet none of them gets into my stomach. Isn't that a miracle? None get lost on the way?" With such talk of meal, cheese and berries, an end. Before talking of food, "Pere," Rambateau produced a rosary. He said it had been his habit for years to say five "Aves" at noon. Would I object? Not in the least. The third of the rosary was for the children, he began before he commenced the prayer. The second was for the people of this place, although there be some who are mighty bad neighbors," he grumbled, "but allez!" The fourth was for his "boy" Marcel, who died in the war. The last was for La France. "She needs it, poor girl," muttered the old fellow with a sigh. He was going to put his hand away, but suddenly pulled them back from his pocket. "I forgot," he said kind of apologetically. "I'll just say one more Monsieur. It will be the first of us two, who is to die."

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

Who Shall Say Who Shall Practice Professional Healing?

John L. Spivak has recently written a book which he calls "The Medical Trust Unmasked." I have not seen the book, but all the shysters in North America, it seems to me, are quite bits of it for my special mortification, or at least a lot of anonymous correspondents seem to think so. Here in today's mail I find a copy of Bulletin 281, issued by the California Reference Bureau, Inc., which quotes at length from the funny book, particularly the view Spivak gives of medicine in Alabama.

Alabama, it seems, has 2,500,000 population, and 2,284 physicians of these, 1,064 are members of the State Medical Association. Alabama law provides that the board of examiners elected by the State Medical Association shall be the board of examiners for persons seeking a license to practice medicine. The board has entire charge of preparing the examinations and passing upon the qualifications of candidates. The examination the would-be healer must take includes chemistry, anatomy, physiology, etiology, pathology, symptomatology, diagnosis, obstetrics, gynecology, surgery, hygiene, medical jurisprudence. Spivak apparently looks upon this section of the law as a "joke," and thinks it unfairly discriminates against "druggists" because it makes it difficult for nice old ladies and barbers out of work to get a license to engage in professional healing, and

There appears to be a mistake in the minds of some persons concerning the Western & Atlantic railroad, or state road, properties. There is a belief among them that those properties can be sold, by authority of the general assembly, and the proceeds applied to the liquidation of current debts of the state.

The state owns some very valuable property in the heart of Chattanooga, for instance, which, very much to the chagrin of the citizens of that city and detrimental to its growth in modern business developments, is held by the state in an unimproved condition. The only exception is the plot on which the Hotel Patton stands by reason of a long leasehold. The other property not used by the road is open and occupied by indifferent tenants.

That Property Is Very Valuable.

The state property in Chattanooga is absolutely central and very valuable. On a strict and just appraisal it should easily sell now for several millions of dollars as sites for large and profitable commercial structures.

The people of Chattanooga are worried and hampered by the unimproved condition of that property, which is growing more valuable daily for business uses as the enterprising Tennessee city expands and grows in enterprises. Those people have been for years past begging that Georgia shall make some use of the state property, or modern improvement of the property.

But under the lease of the state road to the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway company, it appears necessary for the state to make an accommodation with that company before it can handle the property, as it has had to in the case of the old Union Station property here in Atlanta.

Property Pledged to Bonded Debt.

The facts in the case seem to be these: The state cannot, under the constitution, sell any of its property and use the proceeds for any other purpose than to pay the bonded debt of the state.

The constitution says in Article VII, section 12 and paragraph 1, that: "The proceeds of the sale of the Western and Atlantic, Macon and Brunswick, or other railroads held by the state, and any other property owned by the state, shall be applied to the payment of the bonded debt of the state, and shall not be used for any other purpose whatsoever so long as the state has any existing bonded debt."

The amount of the bonded debt is $4,600,000 for the payment of which all property of the state is pledged by the constitution, and any other use of that property is prohibited.

The two men and a woman employee of Caddo, Edith Higgins, are said to have approached a woman employee of Warner's, Carmelita Sweeney, on the morning of the 10th inst., to borrow script into their hands. The lady wisely led them on, according to charges, and transacted the exchange of the script while Caddo and Higgins, who employ listed in an adjoining room, were to receive the gratuity of $100 for her part in the game, provided the present crisis should not picture circles, report to the contrary.

The English company which produced "Journey's End" also claims that the Dawn Patrol was an infringement of its script. Where, altogether makes the plot of "Dawn Patrol" come up to the requirements of a little film pudding.

Why Not Clean Up State Debts as Wise Businessmen Would Do It?

property by sale would be clearly unconstitutional.

The Income Only Is Usable.
The supreme court of the state long ago, as is clearly set forth in the unanimous opinion of the present court in the income tax cases, recently decided, held that income is not property, but the fruit of property. "Property is the tree," it said, "but income is the fruit."

So you can eat the fruit, or tax the fruit, without attacking and taking from the body of the tree, which is the "principal."

Hence it is quite within the corners of the constitution to use the income tax from any property of the state, even by discounting future contract payments—but not so to use the proceeds of property sale.

The present income of the state is $540,000 per year, and is already discounted to January 1, 1930.

The old mansion (Henry Grady hotel) rental is $20,000 per year and the lease rental for the Hotel Patton property in Chattanooga is $9,035 per year. These last items are negligible if the state continues to reduce its supply of life blood in the way of low prices.

43 Cents For Taxes.

Currin pointed out that for every 28 cents tobacco growers receive for their product, the government collects 43 in stamp taxes. While the commissioners were divided as to the amount of the tax, the governor, in an operative marketing effort, they were unanimous in the belief that an industry whose raw product sells so low, should pay no more than a fair share of the cost of production.

Copies of the tobacco resolution were ordered sent by the respective commissioners of agriculture to their respective legislatures in congress with the request that legislation lowering the tax be included in the next revenue bill.

An appeal to the farm board, in which was seen a cautious effort to provide for launching in the south a big co-operative movement, was seen in the tobacco resolution. Reported to the conference by Commissioners Talmadge, Terrell, of Florida, and A. C. Summers, representing the commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina, it recites:

Resolution Adopted.
"Your committee appointed to draft resolutions expressing the sense of this meeting on the crisis in the present cotton situation, beg leave to report as follows: First: We have canvassed the reports concerning the production of the cotton crop this year and find that the government's estimate of 14,362,000 bales is rather high, and that the government has not made due allowance for the effects of the drought upon the cotton crop in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee and parts of Texas, and if the present crop is as low as the government estimates, the maximum crop will be less than 14,000,000 bales.

"Second: There is a crisis pending in the cotton situation, and unless the farmers are helped, the cotton crop will be ruined. The cotton crop is being sold at prices that will ruin the producer by destroying his purchasing power, and retard the general revival of business."

"Third: We recommend as an immediate measure of relief, that the federal farm board use its influence, and the cotton growers of the south, to prevent the south's cotton crop from being placed upon the market at prevailing low prices. The present crop is of moderate size, and a reasonable revival of business, and the employment of idle labor, will increase business in all lines and an increase in the price of cotton will increase the power of the farmer to pay his taxes and other obligations, and in turn increase the volume of business in the cotton mills and other lines of industry."

"Fourth: We recommend that farmers, bankers, business, and all business interests use their influence to hold a large amount of the present cotton crop off the market until general business conditions improve, which will materially stimulate better prices for cotton and other farm products. It means bankruptcy to sell at present prices, and restricted sales will mean ruin for the farmer, as it does in other lines of business, and such a policy is safe and sound under present conditions, and will materially stimulate better prices for cotton and other farm products."

GROWERS URGED TO HOLD COTTON

meeting, outlined the matter of appealing to congress to reduce the internal revenue tax on tobacco so that the tobacco growers might divert this money to the growers. The commissioners, in the resolution adopted, said:

"The federal internal revenue tax has increased from slightly more than $200,000,000 in 1919 to approximately $435,000,000 in 1929, and that the value of tobacco during the same length of time, as paid to growers, has decreased from $570,000,000 to approximately $282,000,000.

"We, therefore, feel that a substantial reduction in the internal revenue tax should be made by congress so that the manufacturers and dealers can give the growers the benefit of the reduction in higher prices for their product."

"We want the tobacco manufacturing industry to live a thousand years in the United States," Commissioner Graham, speaking on the Currin proposal, said, "and go on and grow richer, but I warn this industry that the higher the tax, the more the partnership, the tobacco farmers, get better treatment in the way of prices for raw material, it will one day meet the train at the grade crossing—not that our farmers are bent on vengeance but because a continuation of prices that are below cost of production will make it necessary for one farmer to cease to grow the crop. I know the tobacco growing in this country will die hard but die it must if the manufacturer continues to reduce its supply of life blood in the way of low prices."

Message to Washington.
"Whereas, due to the most prolonged and disastrous drought in the history of the country, and especially in certain sections, we feel that much suffering and distress, both physical and financial, is bound to follow in its wake.

"We appeal to your agencies to continue to make comprehensive surveys and investigations so as to relieve whatever conditions may exist during the coming fall and winter. We believe that a committee from those states, composed of the governor, the commissioner of agriculture, the president of the state bankers' association, the secretary of the state board of health, and a fifth member selected from the board of directors of some transportation company, would be an ideal committee to carry out any suggestions made by you, and would be a committee with a membership that could be made up of agencies in each state that could keep you advised and carry out your plans and suggestions."

Congressman W. C. Lanford appeared before the conference to urge consideration of a plan to create a governmental agency to control the surplus and promote the sale of cotton among the four-fifths of the growers that they would follow governmental determination of acreage to be planted in the face of a cotton surplus.

He said, under his plan, the government would agree, on its part, to pay a minimum price for staple products, such as cotton, wool, wheat and tobacco, and to be guided by its advice—to be made through members of a farm board similar to that in office in Indiana. It is being considered until surplus has been absorbed.

CENSORS DELAY
BATHING IN THE DEPT.

(Editor's Note: The following dispatch reached London from India marked "censored." It was garbled by some place, and the original, being made obscure by the officials, is being made clear by this side.)

PESHAWAR, India, Aug. 11. (Delayed by Censor.)—All communications were cut off to the south and east of Peshawar today as desultory fighting between the British and Indian army forces continued. The garrison and city kept in touch through the telephone and wireless.

Further damage was done to the telephone and wireless lines by the Peshawar British cantonment to the railway station, however, the British troops in the cantonment were not affected.

Ordinary traffic routes passed along the grand trunk road unharmed. The Afridis' objective seem definitely to be government property.

A large number of Afridis residing in the Peshawar district mingle freely with other natives in the day time. This hinders recognition of the hostile bands until they gather at their camp after the fighting.

The tribesmen obtain food in some villages, but have little over native supplies.

The tribesmen, sinking about the city's walls, through orchards and other hiding places, continued to fire on the city. The British forces in the city walls during the fighting, were repulsed. They fled quickly, leaving few dead or wounded. They carried away some of the British equipment.

The British troops in the cantonment were not affected.

This action in the city, and the patrols of armored cars, and the barred way, brought the seriousness of the situation sharply home to the British. The British are using to frequent raids and minor scrapes, but the determined nature of the tribesmen in this uprising, has lent a more ominous aspect to the fighting.

The main advance body of Afridis has concentrated in an orchard close to the Peshawar city railway station. The station is the principal depot in Peshawar, terminus of the vital railway connecting this northwestern outpost with the rest of the country.

The station is only a short distance from the British quarter cantonment. British forces, including two brigades, have used artillery, air planes and cavalry as well as armored cars in seeking to drive the Afridis out of the station and the orchard.

50 BARGAIN HUNTERS INJURED IN COLLAPSE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Overloaded by a crowd of bargain hunters, the second-story balcony of a furniture store here collapsed today and dropped 100 or more women and children to the first floor, ten feet below. Between 50 and 60 of the screaming, frightened shoppers were injured slightly.

No serious injuries were reported. Approximately 40 were admitted to hospitals. Most of them were discharged after treatment of bruises, sprains and cuts. One woman suffered a broken leg.

Many others went to their homes with minor hurts. Accurate checks of the number injured were delayed by the fact that many either did not register at hospitals or did not enter at all, so slight were their injuries.

Panic followed the collapse. Low voltage light wires were entangled in the wreckage. A fire sprinkler pipe was torn from a wall, and water drenched the heap of shoppers, although a fireman reported he was shocked, no serious injuries from this cause were reported.

The crowd was attracted by advertisements of a sale of dishes. Many women brought their children, and it was a typical sales-day crowd which plunged downward with the balcony. Hysteria spread through the trapped throng as ambulance attendants, firemen, police and others delved into the wreckage and found there was more fright than injury to assuage.

No Action Is Taken By Greater Council

The Greater Atlanta council Monday adjourned without transacting any business because of lack of a quorum.

Under a ruling of City Attorney James L. Mayson, Walter C. Taylor, who was elected clerk of the body, still holds the post until he resigns or is dismissed, because of failure of the amendment passed by the legislature to amend the charter of Greater Atlanta instead of the borough of Atlanta.

The amendment provided that the clerk of the borough of Atlanta shall be the clerk of Greater Atlanta, but the amendment was to the charter of the borough instead of to the charter of Greater Atlanta.

Taylor has resigned as clerk of the borough, and J. Henson Tatum has been elected to succeed him, but he still holds the clerkship of Greater Atlanta.

McPherson Officers Entertained at Dinner

Officers of Fort McPherson Monday night were entertained at a dinner given in their honor by the reserve officers who are encamped at the fort for two weeks. The dinner was held at the Chateau, where reserve officers of the 327th infantry and the C. A. S. C. have their headquarters.

Covers were laid for 300 officers and the guests of honor were Major General Frank R. McCoy and Brigadier General George R. Estes. Both officers made brief talks praising the work of the reserve officers and outlining plans for the future.

A feature of the four-course dinner was the singing of a quintette composed of Lieutenants Wofford, McClister, McGhee, Ryther and Lyle.

Old Huff House, Historic Generals' Quarters During Civil War, Will Be Restored by Owners

Spared by Sherman when Atlanta was burned, Huff House, shown above, will be restored by the Huff family following the fire early Sunday morning. One of the outstanding landmarks of Atlanta's colorful history, Huff house was built in 1853 of heart-pine, and, except for the fire damage, is in a fine state of preservation.

Restoration in faithful detail of the historic Huff House was being planned Monday by members of the Huff family following the fire which struck early Sunday morning at the structure spared by Sherman's torch during the march to the sea.

Although the entire house at 70 Huff road, N. W., suffered from flames, it was believed by Miss Sarah and Cordelia Huff that they will be able to rebuild the home without losing much of the original building. Many antique pieces of furniture, scorched and blistered, were salvaged and will be placed in repair for further use. Other pieces were ruined, including a 75-year-old mahogany dresser, a 74-year-old wardrobe, and a 200-year-old reel made in France.

The house was covered by insurance and will be rebuilt at once, Miss Sarah Huff said. The principal damage was to the two west rooms and the attic, the fire having started on the west side of the house. Circumstances surrounding the fire gave rise to belief that it was of incendiary origin. It was discovered when the light awakened Miss Sarah Huff, she and her sister, Miss Cordelia Huff, carried their brother, Clayton Huff, an invalid, from the building.

During the general destruction by Sherman's men following the Battle of Atlanta, George Edwards, a Scotsman and neighbor of the Huffs, raised the British flag over Huff House while the family was away. The house was spared, together with Edwards' home, and the torch-bearers moved on. Miss Sarah Huff was born in 1856, the year after the house was built. She remembers clearly General Joseph E. Johnston's occupancy in 1864 of a house across the valley, and recalls the day of July 17, 1864, when a great commotion was created by Johnston's being relieved of command and succeeded by General John B. Hood.

Major T. R. Hotchkiss had his headquarters at Huff House with his battalion of artillery. Miss Sarah Huff said that when a tent for convalescents was established near the home, live stock began disappearing. This was stopped by Major Hotchkiss, Miss Huff said that she remembers the occasion when Hotchkiss and his battalion were ordered to move to Peachtree creek battle.

During the siege of Atlanta, Confederate officers ordered the Huffs away from their home, stating that the hilltop was to be used as a fort. The Huffs moved to Atlanta, but the fort was not built. The family was in Atlanta during the battle on July 22, and after a brief return home moved to South Georgia until December, when the family moved into the home again. This was the only period that Miss Sarah Huff has ever lived away from the home.

The general George H. Thomas, commanding the army of the Cumberland, made his headquarters in the Huff home. Jeremiah Huff, father of the present owners, was in Lee's army, a courier for Stonewall Jackson.

Among the valuable articles saved from the fire was the babyhood cradle of Miss Sarah Huff. A Chauncy Jerome clock, made in 1847, was not damaged. It was in Miss Cordelia Huff's room. A 200-year-old quilt made by a great-grandmother of the Huffs, was but slightly damaged. A hammered brass lamp, 40 years in the family, was ruined. The 1830 scrapbook of L. N. Ragsdale, a Confederate administration, being compiled by Miss Sarah Huff from newspaper clippings, was ruined. Miss Huff, a cousin of the late Mayor Ragsdale, has such a scrapbook of the end of each of the past three years. An old piano was ruined. It was bought 40 years ago.

Edgar Thompson, a neighbor, and several others, aided in the removal of Clayton Huff, who has been bedridden for three years. Until the house is restored the Huffs are living with neighbors.

Jordan Issues Card On Women's League

J. K. Jordan, candidate for Fulton superior court, opposing Judge John D. Humphries, Monday sent the following communication to The Constitution:

In today's issue of your paper under the article heading "Criticism of Jurors Deported by Jordan," it was stated in the headline that "Candidate for Judgeship is not in Sympathy with Women's Body." This headline was unauthorized by me, the fact being that I am altogether in sympathy with the Women's League for Better Government in their efforts to purify the present condition of county political affairs. I expressly stated at the meeting of these ladies last Saturday night at English Avenue school that I was wholly in accord with them in their efforts to correct these conditions.

"Please make the correction in conformity with the facts."

The Constitution in Monday's issue, carried a statement handed it by Mr. Jordan, of which the following is a part:

"In a meeting of the Women's League for Better Government held Saturday night an anonymous letter was read suggesting that the foreman of the present jury had electioneered to get himself made foreman. Such a flimsy charge, resting on no better foundation is entitled to no consideration whatever and it is to be regretted that the newspapers have made mention of it. While I deeply appreciate the support of the ladies of this organization, I do not concur in any criticism or deprecatory remarks touching any one of the able and fearless jury whose members are, at a sacrifice to themselves, endeavoring to do their duty."

Ragsdale To Resume Duties of Mayor Soon

Probability that Mayor I. N. Ragsdale will resume office Thursday or Friday was seen Monday when it was learned that he is expected to return to the city today from his vacation following orders of his physicians to take a rest.

Acting Mayor G. Everett Millican stated that he had initiated steps to transact for his company, including several out-of-town trips. With Mr. Ragsdale's return expected this morning, Mr. Millican stated he would plan to leave on company business the latter part of the week.

TAX REVISION LEADERS TO MEET HERE TODAY

Executive Committee of New Association To Consider
State Survey.

For the purpose of giving further consideration to the matter of a survey of Georgia's tax system, the executive committee of the Georgia Tax Revision Association will meet at 11 o'clock this morning at the Piedmont hotel.

The association was formed at Macon a week ago when about 60 businessmen of Georgia answered an invitation of Miller S. Bell, Milledgeville banker, to consider the financial condition of the state and recommend a plan for meeting a deficit in the treasury.

Professor Harley L. Lutz, of Princeton University, has been employed to make the survey and will return to Atlanta in a few weeks to begin the actual work. Sears, Miller & Co., New York accountants, have been employed by Governor Hardman to make a financial and organization survey at the same time.

Funds to provide for the work of the experts, which it is expected will require two months, will be raised through a popular subscription, Ronald Ransom, a member of the association, has announced.

If the result of the survey convinces him that a special session of the legislature is necessary to protect the state's interests, Governor Hardman has announced that he will call it.

MammyDowdell, Born in Slavery, Dies in 86th Year

The peaceful death Sunday night of Emma C. Dowdell, better known to her many friends as "Mammy," brought to a close the long and happy life of one of the few remaining colored mamies of ante-bellum slavery days in Georgia. "Mammy," brought to a close the long and happy life of one of the few remaining colored mamies of ante-bellum slavery days in Georgia. "Mammy," brought to a close the long and happy life of one of the few remaining colored mamies of ante-bellum slavery days in Georgia.

"Mammy" was born in slavery in Macon, Ga., in November, 1844. She was sold when a small child to Colonel R. M. Motte, of Columbus. Before the War Between the States she was bought out of slavery by her husband, Rev. H. R. Dowdell, who was a free negro, being a minister of the gospel. Following the war she went with her husband to Tennessee, where she was a servant in the home of Bishop Quintard. She then returned to Georgia, and was a nurse in the family of Governor Joseph Brown, where she remained for many years.

Eighteen years ago she was employed by Mrs. Speer. "Mammy" was half Indian and possessed an excellent and interesting knowledge of negro and Indian folklore. She knew the "Brer Rabbit" and "Brer Fox" stories and was familiar with numerous others compiled by Georgia's beloved Joel Chandler Harris in his "Uncle Remus" tales. Her passing is another departure of the rapidly vanishing survivals of pre-war days in the old south.

415th Hour Passed By Motorboat Pilots

Joe Logan and M. L. Trammell, Atlanta's world outboard motor endurance record makers at Lakewood Park are in good physical condition, except for slight sore throats. An Atlanta physician examined both endurance pilots Monday morning and stated that they were bearing up unusually well under the strain. A heavy diet was again prescribed for several days, after which liquids again will feature the daily menus.

The pilots have completed their seventeenth day and at midnight Monday passed the 415th hour, more than 175 hours beyond the former record. Their goal is a record for all gasoline motors.

A check-up of the figures on the gas and oil consumption Monday revealed that 430 gallons of gasoline and 50 gallons of oil have been burned in the Lakewood motor, which was still functioning smoothly at an early hour this morning. Logan estimated that 2,880 miles have been covered in the 7,200 circles around the lake.

SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA RULES ON MOTOR TRANS- PORTATION

The public interest requires that all forms of transportation should be taxed and regulated on an equitable basis. The railroads ask no favors for themselves, but only that competing forms of transportation should be dealt with as the railroads are.

In a recent decision of the Supreme Court of Georgia, upholding the motor carrier act of the State and the right of the Georgia Public Service Commission to regulate motor vehicles, the opinion of Justice Gilbert says:

"The effect of the growing business of operating motor-vehicles for hire on the public highways must be apparent to every man of ordinary sense. Courts cannot be blind to those things which are apparent to every citizen. The construction and maintenance of the public highways is of vast importance to the happiness and prosperity of all. Upon our public highways are expended immense sums of money, time, labor, all of which must be supplied by the general public. The congestion, to say nothing of pure accidents and negligence, is exacting a toll of human lives and destruction of property that is appalling. It constitutes an increasing menace. The size and weight of such motor-vehicles constitutes an extra burden on the wear and tear of highways, and adds to the dangers. It is unthinkable that the sovereign State cannot lay its hand on the traffic for the purpose of regulation, control, or even prohibition where regulations are not obeyed. Such is a necessity for the public safety and because of the heavy burden of construction and maintenance. The State's constitutional power to tax and to regulate private operations of automobiles using the public highways is in this day nowhere denied."

Statements similar to these have been made in the past, but coming at this time from such a source, they should cause the public to give serious consideration to this feature of the transportation situation.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

A. E. CLIFT,
President, Central of Georgia Railway Company.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(AP)—

After making new low records for the life of the active contracts during today's early trading on reports of rains in Alabama and Arkansas, cotton rallied partially on trade buying and covering. The new October contract declined to 12.15 during the morning but later rallied to 12.31 and closed at that figure compared with 12.38 last Saturday. The general market closed steady at net declines of 4 to 8 points.

The opening was barely steady at declines of 11 to 15 points in response to reports of rains or showers in the south over Sunday and the relatively easy showing of Liverpool. The initial decline brought about a belief that covering and it was readily supplied with December selling off to 12.34 and March 12.61 before the end of the morning or about 18 to 22 points net lower.

Offerings then tapered off and the market turned steadier in the afternoon, probably on a belief that reports for rains at some points in Alabama the precipitation shown by the rainfall gauge today was not sufficient to materially help the drought situation. There seemed to be some trade buying orders in the market for extending into the early part of October and 12.35 for December, which helped to check the decline and steady the afternoon market. December rallied to 12.50 and March to 12.61, covering and closing quotations were within a point or two of the best on the active contracts today.

A good part of the selling was attributed to a renewal of the liquidation prompted by the crop report of Friday, and the fact that the weather was reported as being inspired by the somewhat better average of the weather news or the relatively easy showing of Liverpool cables. Very little southern selling was reported after the first hour, while the detailed weather reports showed rather less rain than anticipated by some of the early sellers here and there were reports of trade buying orders below the market, which promoted covering and the break into new prices.

Liverpool cables said there had been hedging with local and Bombay liquidation in that market on rain reports from the south. Exports today were 8,806, making 50,610 so far this season. Port receipts 12,619. United States port stocks 1,577,351.

NEW ORLEANS

6-7 POINTS DOWN.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The virtual breaking of the drought in portions of the cotton belt today were shown. There were moderate rallies due to trade buying but they did not hold. The market gradually improved after mid-session as covering and some buying on the prospect for continued fair weather in west Texas. Prices recovered 17 to 18 points from the lows and the close was steady at net declines for the day of 6 to 7 points.

Liverpool came in 3 to 5 points worse than the day before and showed losses of 10 to 12 points. As New York opened still lower than the local market and weather advices were favorable to an early end to the drought, prices eased off further after the start until by the middle of the morning October traded down to 12.16 and December to 12.35, down 21 to 22 points below the previous close. From this low level there was a moderate rally on fair trade buying on the scale down.

Prices recovered during the period after mid-session on some disappointment at the rains in the west and made new high of 12.32 for October and 12.53 for December and closed 2 to 4 points under the best at net decline for the day of 6 to 7 points. Receipts 17,271; for week 12,728; for season 101,442; last season 77,022. Exports 48,516; last season 50,320. Port stock 1,508,830; last week 1,508,494. THE GUMPS—HEAVEN—HOME AND HAPPINESS

SON OF THE GODS

By REX BEACH

INSTALLMENT IV.

How could one go to a parent of such crystal clear wisdom and exalted sentiments with petty and undignified resentments? People had certainly treated Lee Sam unreasonably, but the least he could do was to practice a philosophy as ripe as his teacher's.

Sam came to himself with a start to find that he had run past a crossing light.

Following that ride into the country Alice Hart asked herself a good many times whether she had behaved in a manner to reflect credit upon herself.

It had been an embarrassing situation, to be sure, and she was the person who had most cause for resentment, but Wade and Gorham were responsible. Sam Lee was no more to blame for it than she was. If Mabel and Fay hadn't been so furious the difficulty could have been met somehow.

Miss Hart, be it said, was given to evasions and avoidances: her whole life had been a series of painful compromises with disagreeable situations and she had learned how infinitely preferable is half a loaf to no bread. It is a lesson every ambitious person learns and she was ambitious. Ambition accounted for her presence here at Eastern for in a true desperate effort to escape a life of household drudgery she had managed somehow to win a scholarship in Eastern's School of Design and now dreamed of a year or two in Paris, then a studio of her own in New York, and independence.

That scholarship, however, covered only tuition and inasmuch as her parents by no means were sympathized with her desires for a career it took a deal of wheedling, coaxing and even threatening to keep herself in funds to meet living expenses.

It had sincerely thrilled her to meet that unknown Mr. Lee, a man of fabulous wealth, and that evening with him had been an experience. Alice did not realize how keen was her disappointment at the outcome until several days had passed.

Mabel was still devoutly thankful that she had recognized Sam Lee "in time," as she put it, and she seemed to feel that her alertness and her resource had saved them all from some unspeakable calamity.

"Has your father been to the Regents about it?" Fay inquired.

"Not yet. I haven't told him."

"I thought you were."

"Oh, I was! I was burning up. But Kicker is scared pink and begging me not to say anything."

"You'd only get him and Mr. Gorham into trouble," Alice ventured.

"Sam Lee was innocent enough."

"I suppose so. And the college authorities would be mighty slow in calling him down. Goodness knows how rich he is. All the same, it's a fine note when girls like us can meet a Chinaman and give him a good talking."

"I'll say so," Fay agreed. "The trouble is you'd not know he's a Chinaman to look at him. Did you have the faintest idea, Alice?"

Alice shook her head.

"The funny part of it is," Fay interrupted, "we wouldn't be mad at all if he was an honest-to-goodness prince. I mean even a Chinese prince. They have princes, don't they? We'd be all swelled up."

"I suppose so. And I guess he's richer than most princes at that. He won't have anything to do with the other Chinese fellows. All his friends are white."

"That's because he looks like a white man. Well, if he's silly enough to lend his money to Kicker and Spud, I guess we can afford to keep quiet and let them spend some of it on us."

Mabel laughed; plainly she had a practical mind.

Sam was reading a Chinese story, one of the colorful folk stories which are repeated on the eve of the feast of lanterns. It was the humorous, lightly told tales of little Chin Ting.

disconsolate daughter of Sun Hou the oil merchant, whose untalented parents locked her in the house with one dull lantern to console her while they went off to attend the New Year celebration. An audacious youth of the village, to whom the story teller attached the name Fun, had concealed himself in a porcelain jar in Sun Hou's house and, after disclosing his presence to the daughter, impudently made love to her.

Sam lowered the book, for his telephone was ringing. He glanced at the ornate clock on his cabinet of tiny ivory and gold and porcelain curios. It was after 11. Who could be calling? Amid a soft rustling of silks he went into the hall. A woman's voice answered his hello.

"Don't you know who this is?" it inquired. "This is Alice Hart speaking."

Sam all but dropped the receiver. In some constraint they exchanged meaningless greetings and pleasantries. Alice had spent a quiet evening in her room; it had occurred to her that she had failed to thank Sam for his courtesy on the occasion of their meeting. She hoped he wouldn't consider her rude.

Sam asked himself in bewilderment if he could have misconstrued the meaning of that episode at the road-house. Was it possible that Miss Hart did not understand? It seemed incredible, and yet—how account for her friendly tone of voice? Embarrassment smothered him: he must spare her feelings.

"I was reading when you called," he told her. "An old Chinese story."

"What about?"

"About a little Chinese girl who was not allowed to attend the feast of lanterns—our new year celebration. We Chinese attach great importance to New Years: it's our principal holiday. Something like your Christmas or Fourth of July."

"Why wasn't she allowed to go to the feast?"

Sam hesitated. Miss Hart knew. She knew everything and yet she called him up, wanted to chat. Here was a miracle. A new resonance, a new quality was in his voice when he said:

"Poor little Chin Ting's parents were unkind, they locked her in the house while they went off to the festival. But a boy of the village, who of course loved her, managed her escape and they saw the lanterns and the fireworks and had a wonderful time together."

"Him! It sounds like an ordinary American story. I suppose there's more to it."

"Oh, naturally! It's quaint and amusing, in the original script."

"Do you read Chinese?" Miss Hart was incredulous.

"Of course."

"But isn't it awfully hard? Doesn't it take years to learn?"

"Years and years. I couldn't speak English until I was half grown!"

"No! Isn't that extraordinary? You certainly speak it well enough now. Better than I do." There was a pause. "I wish I knew more about—well, about foreign people and countries and customs and such things. I'm terribly ignorant and curious. All I know is a little bit about drawing."

"Was Chin Ting pretty?"

"Lovely," Sam laughed. "It was perhaps the first time he had ever looked naturally while talking to an American girl."

"I suppose the young man called her his lotus flower?"

"No. His thousand pieces of gold."

"How pretty!"

"And his string of rubies. When Chin Ting's father learned that she had gone to the festival against his command he wanted to boil her in oil. But her mother was more tender-hearted. She wished only to boil her daughter's hands therein."

"I'll bet! Parents are pretty much alike. I ran away from home to see the fireworks."

"Indeed?"

"Sure! The trouble is I'm not seeing them. The nearest I've come is—the other night. I had an awfully good time while it lasted." Alice seemed to think of a sudden, that she was overdoing her thanks or was talking too freely for after another hurried word or two she said good night and hung up.

CRACKERS TAKE DOUBLE-HEADER, 5-2 AND 11-3

Ma Stribling passed through downtown Atlanta yesterday and barely caught a train for New York. She is going to meet Pa, who arrives Tuesday or whenever the Homeric docks. W. L. will arrive a day or so later on the Aquitania.

Charley Morgan, of Macon, the man who is promoting the Stribling-K. O. Christner fight Labor Day, also left for New York to meet Pa. Charley, a major league scout, lingered at the Cracker-Pel game until the last possible minute to make the train. Charley is not only a scout but a rabid fan; he gets paid for enjoying himself to the utmost.

So about Tuesday night or Wednesday morning after the little man from south Georgia has come down the gangplank, and has greeted Ma and Charley, and has gone off up the canyon to talk with the big "We" men of boxing some news of the next move in the Stribling ring campaign heavyweight championship offensive will be forthcoming.

STRIB IN DEMAND.

Madison Square Garden wants Strib to fight his fair-haired boy, Jack Sharkey.

Nate Lewis, the Chicago stadium matchmaker, wants Strib for Tuffy Griffith right away.

Somebody in Newark and another fellow in the west somewhere wants Stribling in a hurry.

And there's Charley Morgan's attractive match in Macon, Labor Day.

Stribling is in demand; he is like water from a rock in a thirsty land. He is the only heavyweight in the world, barring possibly the big ex Carnera, who can draw a dime at the gate right now. All the others are washed up and out.

With one accord, Stribling's friends—at least all who have expressed themselves—shout:

"Don't fight Sharkey for the Garden. Let Sharkey cool his heels and let the Garden promote palookas for a while. Why should Stribling pull the string on another pot of gold, for the Garden and their pet fighter just now?"

THE MACON SPIRIT.

Charley Morgan uttered such sentiments and added: "We want Strib to fight for us in Macon and I am sure he will if he is not hurt, but if he can get a shot at Schmeling we would gladly release him." That is a sample of the Macon spirit.

TO PRESS ON AFTER MAX.

Jeff Dickson, the British promoter, is with Pa. They will interview Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager, first of all. They will try to get Schmeling into a ring in Berlin, London or South Africa. Jacobs probably will not listen to them, but they will have their say.

Then the Striblings can proceed to pick a few nice spots and resume fighting.

Any suggestion that Stribling will take a long rest sounds fishy. Stribling will never take a long rest from fighting until his whiskers grow so long he cannot climb into a ring without treading on them.

FOOTBALL FAMINE AVERTED.

Whoa, there!—the drought is cancelled—the football famine in Atlanta predicted exclusively in this column for October 4 and November 15 has been avoided.

W. O. Cheney, principal of Technological High School, sends a happy message explaining how the hiatus in Atlanta's gridiron program for those two dates, due to absence of Tech, Georgia and Oglethorpe teams in foreign territory, has been filled.

Tech High and Boys' High football teams will play their annual game November 15. That should satisfy the most exacting fan, even one with the most confirmed collegiate complex. A Tech High-Boys' High game is a great spectacle.

Mr. Cheney writes:

"I read with interest your comment in which you deplore Atlanta's collegiate football famine for October 11 and November 15. Tech High and Boys' High will stage their annual classic on November 15. They have waited a long time to get a break like they have this year, with Georgia Tech and Oglethorpe both out of the city. These schools will furnish two well coached teams this year and judging by past performances, will give the football fans of the city a few thrills. Yours, etc."

"P. S.: Tech High plays Madison A. & M. October 11."

That makes the Atlanta gridiron card complete.

"HOME" SCHEDULE.

With the completion of the hard surfaced highways between Atlanta and Athens (if they ever complete it!) and Atlanta and Columbus (same comment), football games in Athens and Columbus will seem like home games. At least for the purposes of compiling a "local" schedule they may be used.

So here is a schedule of games Atlantans are to see this fall, lacking, perhaps, a high school game or two due to incomplete schedules:

- September 27—Oglethorpe vs. Georgia, Athens.
- October 4—Tech vs. South Carolina, Atlanta; Georgia vs. Mercer, Athens.
- October 11—Tech High vs. Madison A. & M., Atlanta.
- October 18—Tech vs. Auburn, Atlanta; Georgia vs. North Carolina, Athens.
- October 25—Tech vs. Tulane, Atlanta; Georgia vs. Auburn, Columbus.
- November 1—Georgia vs. Florida; Athens; Oglethorpe vs. Furman, Atlanta.
- November 8—Tech vs. Vanderbilt, Atlanta.
- November 15—Tech High vs. Boys' High, Atlanta.
- November 22—Oglethorpe vs. Mercer, Atlanta.
- November 27—Tech vs. Florida, Atlanta.
- December 6—Tech vs. Georgia, Atlanta.

That can be clipped out and laid under the glass top of the desk, or dresser, or whatnot.

CHECK!

A news item says that miniature golf courses in the United States now number 25,000 and represent an investment of $125,000,000. I'll take $4 cash for my share.

However, one reads farther on that the infant industry has created a great demand for cotton, cottonseed meal, sand, lumber, paint, electricity and hired help, so I'll have to take that back and wish them well.

They seem to be getting along fine without any ballyhoo from this quarter anyhow. Probably the subject should not have been mentioned at all.

BARONS LEAVE FOR PALATKA REGIONAL PLAY

Youngsters Excited Over Trip To Battle for Legion Title.

By Roy White.

Georgia's entry in the regional American Legion Junior baseball championship, the DeKalb Barons, of Decatur, will entrain at 7:30 o'clock tonight for Palatka, Fla., where they will start play Thursday in the elimination series. Fourteen youngsters, together with O. L. Amsler, coach and manager, and a group of Decatur citizens will make the trip.

It won't be but a few more hours before the youngsters will get going—in fact a large majority of them have "been going" since last Wednesday when the state championship series was ended at Spiller Field.

They have packed their bags, unpacked, repacked and packed again several times during the past few days and probably will pack some more today. All youngsters live in Decatur, and they are going to the game in a motor coach.

Those who will make the trip include: Buster Brown, John McKinley, Lefty Burgess, Adrian Kimbrough, Al Woodruff, John Rainey, Gus Shue, Martin Partridge, Grady Moore, Jake Gardner, Lloyd Black, Julius Leonard and Robert Johnson.

Hugh Burgess, athletic director of the Harold Byrd Legion Post, which sponsored Decatur's entry in the state tournament, and Coach Amsler will be in charge of the team. Mayor Scott Candler is making every arrangement possible to go along as an official rooter and head of the cheering section.

Other teams entered in the regional championship tournament are Jackson, Miss., Mobile, Ala., and Tampa, Fla.

WINNER TO VIRGINIA.

The winner of the Palatka series will represent the region at the eastern divisional championship series to be played at Charlottesville, Va., next week and that winner will play the western divisional winner in Memphis, Tenn., for the United States title.

Atlanta's entry last year, the Tannan Park Cardinals, won the state and regional championships and were runner-up in the eastern divisional tournament. The team that beat the Cardinals later won the United States title.

Tampa is favored to win the regional championship. They are entering a team of young veterans returned from the last year and have not recovered from the eastern divisional tournament. The team that beat the Cardinals later won the United States title.

Palatka Worried By Fame of Barons.

PALATKA, Fla., Aug. 11.—Florida partisans are all agog with contemplating the chances of their favorites, the Tampa Terriers, to go through to victory over the champion Barons.

Representing Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi when these four outfits met in the American Legion regional tournament here Thursday and Friday.

Tampa continued its yearly winning streak by annexing the state title for the fourth successive time last Thursday, but they will have a rocky road to travel before they can claim the regional title.

The nine coached by Dale Van Sickel, a former all-American football star, conquered Gainesville in the final of the state title clash last week, but the strong Decatur nine, which turned back Macon in the Georgia finals, has the downwaters worried.

Tampa won the first game against their rivals from the University City, 6 to 0, thanks to a three-hit contest hurled by Carsten, while the final deciding tilt was taken by a 12-to-3 score when the Tampa nine garnered 10 runs in the first frame to gain an unbeatable lead.

Jackson, Miss., and Mobile, Ala., the other two teams which will compete for the southeastern crown here this week, are ranked as fine representative teams in their respective states but the one question which seems to be paramount in the minds of the Cuban-American Tampa aggregation is "Can we beat Decatur?"

Jackson gained its way to the state title by downing the junior stars from Yazoo City, while Mobile defeated the Huetown team to win their state crown.

The winner of the tournament this week will represent the southeastern states at the eastern divisional championship at Charlottesville, Va., August 21, 22, 23 to decide which team will meet the conquerors of the west in the world series at Memphis August 27 to 30.

THOMPSON DEFENDS WELTERWEIGHT TITLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Young Jack Thompson, world's welterweight champion, will engage in the first defense of his title against Tommy Freeman, Cleveland challenger, in Cleveland either September 4 or 5, Ray Alvis, the titleholder's manager, said today.

The match will be 14 rounds to a decision and will be staged at night in the Cleveland baseball park.

Freeman holds a decision over the champion, the two having fought in Detroit last winter before Thompson dethroned Jackie Fields.

Alvis said he would sign for the match in Cleveland Thursday.

The champion will receive a guarantee of $37,500.

Gives Up Title

HELEN WILLIS MOODY

HELEN GIVES UP WOMEN'S TITLE

Queen of Courts Decides To Stay at Home and Rest.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Helen Willis Moody, six times winner of the national women's tennis championship, said tonight she will not defend her title this year at Forest Hills.

Mrs. Moody, although she still has a keen desire to engage in competitive tennis, said she wishes to remain in San Francisco with her husband and relatives after many months of travel.

"I've been away from home so long it simply wouldn't be right to go away so soon," she said.

In the last two months Mrs. Moody won the French and English championships, retaining her home here about three weeks ago.

In 1929 Mrs. Moody withdrew from the national championships because of illness. Excepting that year she has won the women's singles title successively from 1923.

This year's matches begin August 15 at Forest Hills, N. Y.

Molla Is Missing After 15 Tourneys.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(AP)—For the first time since she rose to fame 15 years ago, the name of that great champion, Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, is missing from the list of entrants for the national women's tennis championship.

The one-time queen of the courts was seized with a serious illness early in the year and has not recovered sufficiently to take up her racket.

In fact, it is considered doubtful whether she will ever again engage in important tournament play.

Boxing Tourney At Fort Tonight

After a lay-off of over two years, the athletic authorities at Fort MePherson are going to revive boxing with an intramural tournament Tuesday night to decide the post champions. It is hoped that in this way enough material will be found to conduct fights at regular intervals in the future.

There will be six three-round bouts which will bring together some of the classiest scrappers at the fort. The bouts will be staged in the open arena with the first bout starting promptly at 8 o'clock.

Golf Bug Stings Boys Behind Bars; Warden Happy

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 11.—(AP)—They're playing golf in prison now. The story came out today when Levin J. Chase, secretary of the New Hampshire board of prison trustees, revealed he had received a letter from an inmate asking for "second-hand clubs, both right and left-handed, and golf balls that are not in use."

A number of the inmates, he said, were taking up the game, playing in the prison yards.

There are certain difficulties. "Out of bounds" is no mere figure of speech here with a high wall marking the line of demarcation. Therefore, the game is restricted to short drives and putting.

Secretary Chase has the request under consideration.

ATLANTA BOYS WIN IN CULVER NET TOURNAMENT

Reese, Carr and Boynton Advance With Little Trouble.

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 11.—Three young Atlanta tennis stars remained in the running for the national boy and junior tennis titles after a strenuous first day's play on the Culver Military Academy courts.

A field of 84 juniors and 44 boys began the competition early this morning, but by nightfall over half of them had been eliminated.

RESE SPEEDS.

Billy Reese, Atlanta junior star, won his way into the fourth round, trimming J. Sempliner, Culver, 6-0, 6-0, and Frank Gregory, Chicago's leading junior player, 6-2, 6-2.

Reese was cracking everything hard from the back court and ambulating to the net to zip over a point-getting volley for the most part in both matches.

Julian Carr, another Atlanta star, won as he pleased from George Carr, Chicago, 6-2, 6-4, and thereby took a place in the third round of the junior singles.

The diminutive Carr was stroking much better than at the western championships last week, and may upset one of the favorites before the end of the week.

NO TROUBLE.

George Boynton, second ranking national boy from Atlanta, had no trouble with George Specht, Evansville, Ind., taking an easy 6-1, 6-3 victory to reach the third round of the boys' singles.

Boynton ranks as one of the heavy favorites in his division along with Jay Cohn, Santa Monica, Cal., defending boy champion Frankie Parker, Milwaukee, western champion who has trounced Cohn three times this year, and Jack Lynch, Taft (Cal.), last year's champion.

Results in the junior singles included:

FIRST ROUND.

Kendall Cram, Nashville, defeated Julian Weiss, Chicago, 6-2, 6-4.

Joe Myers, Pasadena, Cal., defeated J. Bradford, Goshen, Ind., 6-0, 6-4.

Robert Stewart, Pensacola, Fla., defeated Fred Weinheimer, Syracuse, N. Y., 6-2, 6-2.

Frank Gregory, Chicago, defeated C. B. Maits, Pittsburgh, 6-2, 6-3.

Billy Reese, Atlanta, defeated J. Sempliner, Culver, Ind., 6-0, 6-0.

Donald Morrison, Washington, D. C., defeated R. Weiss, St. Louis, 6-0, 6-3.

SECOND ROUND.

R. Cameron, Tulsa, Okla., defeated Ed Tieman, Gary, Ind., 6-0, 7-5.

R. Bacon, Newport, L. I., defeated McCullough, Indianapolis, 6-1, 7-5.

Eddie Sutter, New Orleans, Mass., defeated W. Niles, Brookline, Mass., 6-1, 6-3.

Julian Carr, Atlanta, defeated George Crowley, Chicago, 6-2, 6-4.

In the third round, Billy Reese, Atlanta, defeated I. Gregory, Chicago, 6-2, 6-2.

BOYS' SINGLES.

FIRST ROUND.

C. D. Johnston, Indianapolis, defeated L. Alexander, Culver, Ind., 6-3, 6-0.

Joe McLean, Washington, D. C., defeated Robert Nicolich, Gary, Ind., 6-2, 6-1.

Juan Sadates, Cuba, defeated N. Bickel, Oak Park, Ill., 4-6, 14-12.

SECOND ROUND.

Frank Parker, Milwaukee, defeated A. Speas, Elkhart, Ind., 6-0, 6-0.

F. Fitzpatrick, Providence, R. I., defeated Jose Sabates, Cuba, 6-1, 6-3.

Joe McLean, Washington, D. C., defeated P. Shostrom, Chicago, 6-1, 6-3.

Jay Cohn, Santa Monica, beat L. Taylor, Elkhart, 6-0, 6-3.

George Specht, Evansville, 6-1, 6-3.

R. Rasmussen, Chicago, defeated William Ginn, Atlanta, 6-0, 6-1.

NEW CANAAN, Conn., Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Rev. Harold Clifford Cutbill, of Boston, whose performances as a track star in college and out gained him the sobriquet of the "Flying Parson," was married here today to Miss Beatrice Gilberta Schmidt.

The marriage was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schmidt.

The Rev. Mr. Cutbill was ordained a Congregational minister in 1925, but has retired.

Dallas Hurler Off To Join White Sox

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Victor Frasier, young right-handed pitcher bought by the Chicago White Sox from Dallas of the Texas league at the end of last season, left tonight for Chicago.

The action apparently ended a long period of bickering between Frasier and the White Sox management, during which the pitcher refused to report for duty.

It came after a conference between Frasier and President Sol Dreyfuss, of the Dallas club. Dreyfuss said he told Frasier he was "throwing away" a promising baseball career.

Brooklyn Robins Buy Tourist Star

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 11.—(AP)—Earl Mattingly, right-handed pitcher star of the Asheville Tourists, has been sold to the Brooklyn Robins, it was announced here today.

Mattingly probably will finish the season with Robins, owned by the Brooklyn club.

Cubs Defeat Braves and Take League Cardinals' Nose Out Robins

CHICAGO HOLDS SLIM MARGIN AFTER VICTORY

Teachout Pitches Bruins Into Lead by Allowing Six Hits.

Chicago's Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals joined forces yesterday to remove the Brooklyn Robins from the National League lead, the Bruins profiting by slipping into the vacant top position, by a 1-point margin.

How leaders stand:

Team	Wins	Losses	Points
Brooklyn	45	44	596
St. Louis	45	45	595
Chicago	44	44	594

Wallie Berger got a gift home run in the ninth inning when Hack Wilson misjudged his long high fly.

Riggs Stephenson and Woody English led the Cub attack, Riggs getting two doubles and a single in three times at bat and Woody driving in two runs with timely singles.

Meantime the Robins were fighting to hold their slim lead in St. Louis. They pounded at Gard pitcher to secure six runs and went into the ninth with a two-run lead which looked fairly safe.

Appearances deceived, however, and a three-run sprint by the Cards turned the tide in their favor. Thurston held the fort for a time, but Phelps had to be rushed to the rescue and he was unable to stem the tide in time.

Tinker To Manage Jersey City Team

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Joe B. Tinker, shortstop of the famous Tinker to Evers to Chance infield combination of the Chicago Cubs 20 years ago, has been appointed manager of the Jersey City club in the International league. It was announced today. He succeeds Nick Allen, well known as a minor league manager, who resigned.

Allen could not get the club into the winning column, his percentage being .407 when he gave up the reins.

CUBS 4; BRAVES 2.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs defeated the Brooklyn Braves yesterday, 4 to 2, in a game that was a real slugfest.

GIANTS HAVE SLIM CHANCE. American League Winner Settled.

By Walter Trumbull.

(Copyright, 1930, by The Constitution by the New American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—If there is going to be any great change in the standing of the major league baseball clubs, it must happen fairly soon, because summer is fleeting to the extent that the plaintive piping of that autumn bird, the football bird, is beginning to be heard in the land.

There is now the same uncertainty as to the result of the American league race as there might be in a contest between Gallant Fox and a flock of mud turtles.

The Athletics and New York are still battling for second place. Cleveland and Detroit are rivals for the last place in the first division; and Chicago and St. Louis are contending for the last place in the league.

Philadelphia is in a position to lead the league by about as wide a margin as first place goes to the Mackmen. Even their friends thought the Red Sox would finish behind the Athletics.

Not players to "double cross" their friends.

The National league race is still a toss-up. The Athletics still have a tough row to hoe in the next few weeks. Their series with the Cubs will be an important set of games.

Holds Slim Lead; Klein, in Second Place, Drops Three Points.

By Associated Press.

Bill Terry helped himself to three base hits in four times at bat yesterday, including a home, and boosted his average to .410 to lead the Big Six by a narrow but satisfactory margin. His rivals lost ground or barely held their own.

Chuck Klein, chasing the pace-setter, failed to get a hit in three times at bat and dropped two points to .403. Babe Herman helped himself to a home run but could do no better in three trips to the plate and remained stationary in the third place with .390.

Lois Gehrig failed either to gain or lose with one in three. Both Babe Ruth and Al Simmons dropped points.

Bryan Grant Faces Frank Hunter Next in Drive for Title at Rye

YOUNG ATLANTAN PLAYS VETERAN ON WEDNESDAY

Gilbert Hall Meets Defeat as Big Guns Rest for Next Battles.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 11.—(P)—Scoring an impressive victory over J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., Jake Hess, Jr., of Fort Worth, Texas, turned in the only real upset of the day in the eastern grass courts tennis championship today. The series were 5-7, 6-4, 6-4. Hess is a round behind the men's field as are Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., and Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Texas. Davis cup alternates, Bell defeated Armand J. Bruneau, 6-3, 6-4, while Mangin took the measure of Dr. Gerald Bartosh, of Los Angeles, in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4.

Competition in the women's singles held the center of play with the majority of favorites advanced with little difficulty. Thirty-six matches in the women's division and six in the men's section were played at the Westchester Country Club.

HUNTER WINS.
In other matches in the men's division, Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., No. 2 in the national ranking, advanced to the third round along with Edward W. Fellenberg, of New York, and Ted Burwell, Charlotte, N. C. Hunter had an easy time downing Henry Holden, Jr., of Houston, Texas, 6-0, 6-1, while Fellenberg vanquished Marcel Rainville, the Canadian Davis cupper, in a mild upset. The score was 6-2, 6-3. Burwell gained the third round with a hard-fought victory over Phil Neer, of Portland, Ore., 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

William Tilden, the national champion, who Sunday eliminated titleholder, is idle until Wednesday, when he meets Julius Seligson, of New York, in the third round. Later he will pair Hunter as the No. 1 seeded team in the doubles.

Bryan Grant, young Atlanta sensation, who Sunday defeated the world champion Vines, California star, will meet Frank Hunter in his next match Wednesday afternoon. Grant took it easy today after his victory Sunday.

WOMEN'S PLAY.
Play in the women's singles filled seven of the third-round brackets with Miss Mary Greif, Kansas City, Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, East Stamford, Conn., Miss Catherine Wolf, Chicago, Miss Alice Francis, New York, Miss Mercedes Marlowe, San Francisco, and two New Yorkers—Mrs. T. D. M. Johnson and Miss Clara Greenspan ahead of the field. All but Mrs. Johnson and Miss Marlowe played two matches today.

Five of the eight seeded stars remained in running, while the remaining three, Miss Betty Nuthall, of England; Miss Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Cal.; and Miss Virginia Hillery, of Philadelphia, withdrew. The five seeded players to advance were Miss Edith Cross, San Francisco; Miss Ethel Burkhardt, also of San Francisco; Miss Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, Cal.; Miss Virginia Rice, of Boston, and Miss Greif. The only upset in the women's play saw the elimination of Mrs. Arj J. Lamme, a leading eastern player, by Baroness Levie, of Italy, the former Maude Rosenbaum, of Chicago. The straight set victory, 8-6, 6-3, placed the baroness in the second round.

YACHT THISSE WINS.
ROCHESTER, Aug. 11.—(P)—The American yacht Thisse won the first race in the Canada's cup series today, defeating the Quest of Toronto by approximately 22 seconds over an 18-mile course.

Paris Boy Hurls Perfect Game

PARIS, Ill., Aug. 11.—(P)—Pete Harris, star left-handed semi-pro, pitched a perfect baseball game yesterday, defeating Brazil, Ind., 14 to 0. None of the 27 men who faced Harris reached first base. He struck out nine men and allowed no bases on balls.

HARPER BEATS CHARLIE FOX

Texas Wins in Straight Falls Over Rough Cleveland.

Using his body scissors hold with effectiveness, Paul Harper, the former University of Texas giant, threw Charlie Fox, Cleveland's hard boy, in rapid succession to win the feature match of a wrestling card Monday night at Spiller field.

Not only did Harper use the scissors hold, but he weakened Fox considerably before the first fall was scored with a split hold. He secured two of those holds early in the match and it was with difficulty that Fox wiggled out of them.

Harper was a much improved wrestler since he last appeared here. He was as quick as a flash Monday night and was the aggressor practically all the way. Time after time he threw himself around Fox's shoulders to get loose from a head lock and left Fox puzzled at his movements.

The first fall was clocked at 37 minutes and 19 seconds, while the second was secured in five minutes and 18 seconds, after the intermission of 10 minutes.

During the first few minutes of the match, there was little to choose between the two. Harper secured one of his split holds and held it for some five minutes. Fox then secured a headlock, but by quick work Harper pulled himself out. Harper varied his attack and had Fox on the defensive with a hammer lock and it was at this juncture of the match that Fox began to get rough.

They exchanged holds after which Fox used the body slam to weaken Harper. Fox later secured a split hold on Harper and it seemed for a minute that the Texas was through, but he came back strong, secured a body scissors and held it for 11 minutes before Fox was pinned to the canvas.

After the intermission Fox reversed his headlock on Harper for several minutes before the Texas jumped and threw both legs about Fox. Harper was in the air for several minutes before Fox was thrown to the canvas for the second fall.

In a preliminary match Milo Steinborn, with his bear hug, threw Henry Spellman, in 32 minutes and 30 seconds. It was a match full of excitement and brought many cheers from the crowd.

They will make their home in Sylvester. When asked whether or not he would retire from the ring, "Doc" replied that he had "just begun to fight."

ATLANTA GOLF STARS BATTLE BILTMORE PAR

High Scores Common as Invitation Meet Gets Under Way.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 11.—(P) Old man par withstood the onslaught of more than 200 golfers here today and a 73 was the best score in the qualifying round of the Biltmore Forest invitation tournament.

Kayton Smith, Savannah, Ga., titleholder in 1927 and 1928, demonstrated that he had not forgotten how to negotiate the treacherous course. His 73, however, was but two strokes ahead of Carl Dann, Orlando, Fla., and two local players, W. F. Cox and Joe Adams.

The tricky greens on the Biltmore course took a heavy toll of golfers during the day, with scores of 100 common occurrences. Three and four putted greens appeared to be the rule with the majority.

SHARE CROWN.
Atlanta and Asheville golfers shared the low scoring group with Dean Smith, brother of Kayton, also landing in the charmed 70's.

Erwin Laxton, Charlotte; Berrien Moore, Atlanta, and G. W. Spencer, Sanford, Fla., broke 80 and were off to good starts toward championship flight ratings.

Eighteen more holes await the huge field tomorrow, with ten flights scheduled to survive the play. A new champion is certain to be crowned this year, as Tommy Aycock, titleholder, is not defending his crown. Kayton Smith, through his steady play, becomes the favorite to regain his old title.

Scott Hudson, Jr., Atlanta, got off to a good start on the outward nine, carding a 37, but came in at 42.

42'S HURT.
Dean Smith's 42 on the inward journey also cost him dearly, as he scored a brilliant 35 on the trip out. Scores of the leaders at the end of 18 holes include:

Kayton Smith, Savannah, 73; W. F. Cox, Asheville, 75; Joe Adams, Asheville, 75; Carl Dann, Orlando, and Asheville, 75; Dean Smith, Savannah, 77; Allan Smith, Asheville, 77; Berrien Moore, Atlanta, 78; G. W. Spencer, Sanford, Fla., 78; Erwin Laxton, Charlotte, 78; Scott Hudson, Jr., Atlanta, 79; Julius Hughes, Atlanta, 80; J. H. Chapman, Winter Haven, Fla., 80; Jesse G. Rainwater, New Orleans, 80; Craig Barrow, Jr., Savannah, 81; Dr. H. P. Harris, Montgomery, Ala., 82; Oliver M. Healy, Atlanta, 83; James W. West, Atlanta, 83; H. A. McCorm, Macon, Ga., 83; W. W. Williams, Cincinnati, 83; Nash Reid, Montgomery, Ala., 83; M. K. Youngblood, Atlanta, 86.

Atlantans Lead As Rain Halts Play.
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., August 11.—(P)—Atlanta was far in the lead in the first golf tournament of the Junior Chamber of Commerce matches between Atlanta, Columbus and Newnan here today when rain intervened and prevented completion of play.

Atlanta's six-man team had won all points of the morning play.

SON OF STAR.
Charley Gelbert, the Cards' star shortstop, is the son of an old all American football star who played at Lebanon valley.

'Ma' Stribling Off To Meet 'Pa'

"Ma" Stribling, mother of the famous Georgia battler, passed through Atlanta Monday on her way to New York, where she will meet "Pa," who lands from England today. Mrs. Stribling drove here from the Stribling plantation at Ochlocknee, Ga., and en train immediately for New York. All she would say was that she was "thrilled over W. L.'s victory" over Phil Scott in London.

Druid Hills Golfers Play Novel Tourney.

With no tournament on the week's schedule, Druid Hills golfers are taking advantage of the opportunity to play a few rounds in the novel "low score tournament." Every player an play as many rounds during August as he likes and the scores are placed in a sealed box, not to be opened until the end of the month.

A set of specially built matched wood clubs will be given to the player having the lowest net score for the month. Handicaps apply.

Henry Maddox Makes Hole-in-One.

Another Atlantan, Henry Maddox, has been admitted to the local hole-in-one club. He was playing during the week-end on the Chandler park course with Pat Hines, Robert Casselway and J. E. Berry, club pro, and sank a tee shot on No. 3 green. It is a par three 160-yard hole.

RAY FRANCIS AND BLETHEN BEAT PELICANS

Twin Victories Give Tie for Third Place With Pels.

Goes. So Sheehan came back to the plate and hit another one. He carefully aimed it 40 yards inside the foul line and a little higher up Billy-zoot Hill. It was good for three bases. Fair enough. Johnson fled out, and Rosenthal drove Sheehan in with a single. Shirley walked and Appling, the apple of your eye, socked a triple to score both runners.

Johnson batted in another runner in the fifth and Krueger the fifth counter in the sixth. The Crackers were simply mean about it. They wasted no hits and only four runners were left on base.

The second game was over in even less time than the first. Lefty Fuhr was greeted with a double from Langford's bat. Sheehan was an infield out.

JIMMY DOUBLES.

Then Johnston doubled, Rosenthal singled, Shirley singled, Appling fanned and Barron fumbled. That netted the home club three runs and left two on. Manager G'ibbert had been rushing Delmar Lundgren through the warming up process as fast as he could and seat Del to stop the batting storm. But as soon as Del poked his head up, Polvogt banged a triple to the scoreboard that sent two more in. Francis singled to score Polvogt. Langford, up the second time in the frame, single, and sent Francis to third. They tried a double steal for exercise and Francis was caught at the plate to end it all.

The rest of the scoring was overlooked. The Crackers as a team had been in a slight batting slump for several days but they all snapped out of it at once. It was no longer to play them a double header.

Atlanta Boy Wins Contest in Diving

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 11.—Jimmy Clark, young Atlantan, won the admiration of swimming fans here by taking first place in the boys' diving event in a recent meet with a beautiful exhibition. Young Clark placed in two other events to win second individual place for the meet.

Milner Benedict, of Birmingham, won first all-round honors with three first places and a second for a total of 18 points, while Clark, with a first and two seconds, scored 11 points. Henry Cronk, another Atlantan, won a second place in the meet.

SPORTS

CHICAGO and Brooklyn today start the main number of their pennant pole dance. The orchestra will be under the double direction of your Uncle Wilbert Robinson and Joe McCarthy, where each one has the chance to make the other step to the funeral march.

In this four-game meeting either team could deal a deadly thrust by a series clean-up and either could insert a lot of poison by taking three out of four. In case of an even break, John McGraw and his Giants will be heard giving three rousing cheers for they are right in the middle of the circus.

This week will be one of the warmest spots of the big three-club race, one of the best the National League or any other league has known in years. If the Cubs had the seating space they could entertain from 70,000 to 100,000 a day against the Dodgers, for this will be one of the most interesting shows of the entire summer, no matter what the sport.

The Giants have been coming on like the wind and surf for some weeks and there are many Cub supporters who fear them more than they fear the spectacular but erratic Dodgers.

The Cubs ran into a flock of sour pitching a few days back, but the staff seems to have settled down again and this means that Vance, Elliott, Clark, Luque, Thurston and other Dodger pitchers can afford no sinking spells.

And while this is going on a large, round person by the name of Hack Wilson is said to be oiling up his heavy artillery—not only to help win a pennant but to let Babe Ruth know that he is in the middle of a scrap.

The Babe even now can feel Hack's hot breath upon the back of his broad neck.

WHO WINS A FIGHT?

There are several points that baffle the average fight follower when a decision is given—much after the manner of the recent Berg Chocolate hullabaloo. The fight fan is first baffled when the fighter he thought to be well ahead is declared the loser. He is still more baffled when he discovers that the judge and the referee, who made the rule disagree on many of the rounds, arriving at the same conclusion over widely separated trails.

They both might name A as the winner, but in doing so they rarely agree on the rounds that A and B won or lost. If this doesn't make the entire matter a guessing contest, there is no such thing as a guessing contest.

In the Sharkey-Dempsey fight, the three officials hardly agreed on any round after the first.

If two fight officials agree that A won 7 rounds and that B won 3, one might think they were using the same system of scoring. But when it is discovered that the officials have given A and B different rounds, being in almost complete disagreement, it seems to be about time that some standard method of scoring was adopted or some officials were picked who could eliminate about 50 per cent of the guessing that takes place.

If wind-milling, that scrap elbows and shoulders, counts for points, it is bound to conflict with those who score only clean punches that reach head or body with something resembling a slight impact.

The average fight decision means so little today that it might as well be thrown into the ash can and left there.

WHAT with Young Stribling returning home from the war, with young Bryan Grant stepping around on various tennis courts, and with Bobby Jones waiting for the Merion campaign, the state of Georgia can see no present sign of drouth in her sporting crop.

THE POLO PICK.

It may be that Pedley, Hopping, Hitchcock and Guest are to be named as the big four. If they are it would be hard to find a stronger combination. If any one of these is left off there are two or three others who can fit in with practically as much stuff to show.

There may have been stronger teams in the past when Milburn was at his best, but there has never been so much talent distributed between California and Long Island, taking up Texas on the way. And Texas is something to take up.

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE No. 26

As the guardsmen rushed with javelins poised to kill Tarzan, they saw their quarry turn and take a few quick steps, leap high into the air and disappear amidst the foliage of an overhanging oak. A dozen javelins hurtled among the branches of the tree. The soldiers rushed forward, but their quarry had vanished.

Sublatus, the Emperor, was close upon the heels of his soldiers. "Quick!" he cried. "After him. A thousand denarii to the man who brings down the barbarian!" "There he goes!" cried one, pointing. "No," cried another, "I saw him there among the foliage. I saw the branches move."

In the meantime, the ape-man made his way swiftly through the trees along one side of the avenue, dropped to a low roof, crossed it and sprang into a tree that rose from an inner court, pausing there to listen for signs of pursuit. After the manner of a wild beast hunted through the jungle, he moved as silently as a shadow.

There were two people in the courtyard below him, but his movements were so quiet that they were unaware of his presence. Tarzan, however, was not unaware of theirs, and as he listened to the noise of the growing pursuit, he took note of the girl and the man in the garden beneath him.

Many Atlantans

Witness Brilliant

Meteoritic Display

Despite the fact that a full moon somewhat obscured the view, Atlantans who watched the sky Monday night were not disappointed, since the annual return engagement of "Pluto's playmates" or the "fiery stars of St. Lawrence," billed as a significant meteoric display, came off on schedule.

Shortly after midnight, low over the horizon of the northeast, sky seemed to be shooting directly down on the watchers' heads.

Among the many Atlantans who watched the shooting stars Monday night and this morning was Judge John D. Humphries, well-known amateur astronomer and local authority on celestial bodies. He stated that quite a number of the shooting stars were observed by him but that none was of any startling brilliance.

Funeral services for Mrs. Lewis V. Rogers, 70, pioneer Atlantian and active churchwoman for many years, who died Sunday at her residence, 441 Windsor street, S. W., will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from the home by the Rev. T. H. Jackson. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.
